REPUBLICANS TO MEET IN SPRINGS

NATIONAL COMMITTEEMEN STATE CHAIRMEN COMING.

PLAN IMPORTANT CONFERENCE

ENTIRE WEST TO BE REPRESENTED AT GATHERING.

HERE MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Taft Campaign Will Be Discussed for Two Days at Antlers Hotel—Forty Rooms Reserved for Party. Hitchcock Will Arrive Sunday.

Republican national committeemen and state chairmen of the western states will meet in conference at the Antlers hotel in this city next Monday and Tuesday, in accordance with a call issued yesterday by Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock of the national Republican committee.

Announcement of the calling of the conference was received last night by William S. Deming, manager of the Antlers hotel, together with the request for the reservation of 40 rooms for the members who will be in attendance. Mr. Hitchcock telegraphed from Washington, stating that he would arrive in Colorado Springs next Sunday evening.

This will be one of the most important political conferences of the month, and is called primarily to outline the plan of campaign to be carried on by the Republican party in the west this year. The selection of Colorado Springs as the meeting place is made, not only in consideration of its geographical location in the center of the west, but in view of the many other climatic and scenic advantages.

Will See the Sights.

While the time of the members will be occupied during these two days with meetings, practically all of the members who will attend the conference will remain here several days, attending to matters political and taking in the sights of the Pikes Peak region.

Just what questions will come up for consideration at this meeting have not been announced by Chairman Hitchcock, but it is expected that the situation will be thoroughly canvassed as regards the best methods of procedure to carry the various western states and swing them into the Republican column in November. The meeting of the state chairmen with the national committeemen will prove the disseminating point for information regarding the campaign.

About 20 states, including all west of the Mississippi river, will be represented. Leaders from the east will also probably come to Colorado Springs to attend the conference. Local Republicans will make arrangements for the entertainment of the visiting members, and it is probable that a banquet and numerous automobile rides will be provided.

Hitchcock Will Be Here.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—At the Colorado Springs Republican conference careful plans will be worked out for the campaign in the west; methods will be discussed and speakers of the various states arranged for so far as may be possible.

In the near future similar conferences will be held by Chairman Hitchcock with Republican leaders in the middle west and in the east. The place of the middle west conference will be Chicago, and it probably will be held about 10 days after the Colo-

KILLS SEVEN MINERS

EXPLOSION WRECKS MINE AND SMOTHERS MEN.

Accident Is Due to Carelessness of Workman Who Lifted Gas of Safety Lamp.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 15.—Seven mine workers were killed and 10 others injured today by a terrific explosion of gas in the Williamstown colliery of the Summit Branch Mining company in the lower part of the anthracite coal fields. The mine was wrecked and set on fire.

The explosion occurred in No. 1 shaft of the colliery and is believed to have been caused by one of the men lifting the gauze of his safety lamp just after an explosion of a shot which brought down a large body of coal.

The explosion shook the entire colliery. The work of rescue was immediately begun and when volunteers were called for, almost every man at the workings offered his services which meant a hazardous trip into the burning mine.

Near the foot of the shaft the injured were found; they having gained toward the entrance only [illegible] found a short distance from the shaft, [illegible] and fell into one of the many gaping chasms that abound in the mountain. [illegible] battered and hurled into an almost unrecognizable ma-

COLUMBUS, O., July 15.—The Prohibition national convention, which met here today, worked under a temporary organization throughout its two sessions and adjourned until tomorrow morning without hearing a report from the committee appointed to select its permanent officers. In fact, little was accomplished today beyond naming the members of the various committees and receiving the reports of the committees on rules and on credentials. There were no contests before the latter body, and its report, as well as that of the committee on rules, was largely perfunctory.

The committee on permanent organization will report tomorrow morning, and Professor Scanlon of Pittsburg, one of the numerous candidates for the presidency, will be named as the permanent chairman.

Head of Ticket in Doubt.

The presidential nomination is still open, and there has been no marked concentration in favor of any candidate. It was practically agreed early today that the nomination could be had by Judge Seaborn Wright of Georgia if he would express a willingness to accept it. Judge Wright would not announce himself as a candidate, and before the convention met it was said that the nomination would be the result of an open struggle.

The name of Joshua Levering of Maryland, who was the nominee of 1896, was strongly favored by many, but the friends of Mr. Levering were not disposed to push his candidacy unless he was assured in advance of the nomination. They claimed that, inasmuch as he had once been the standard bearer of his party, a refusal by the present convention to again place him in that position might be construed as a repudiation of his former efforts in behalf of his party.

Tracy May Win Out.

James P. Tracy of Detroit is making an energetic canvass and sentiment is [illegible] in favor of his nomination. The Illinois delegates are pushing Daniel R. IS DASHED TO DEATH

LADY TEACHER FALLS OVER PRECIPICE INTO CHASM.

Was Member of Sierra Club on Annual Outing in California Mountains.

VISALIA, Cal., July 15.—News of the second tragic death within a month among visitors spending their summer vacation climbing the mountains of the high Sierras reached here today when the body of Miss Grace Barnett, a graduate of the University of California and head of the art department in the Berkeley high school, was brought in after a two days' journey on a pack mule.

Miss Barnett fell over a precipice in King's river canon and was dashed to instant death in the chasm hundreds of feet below. A companion narrowly escaped the same fate. The place where Miss Barnett was killed was remote from the railroad and telegraph communication and the first news of the accident was received today when the body of the young woman was brought in after the greatest difficulty.

The death of Miss Barnett brought to a tragic end the summer outing of the Sierra club, of which she was a member. The club spends its annual outing in the Sierra mountains in some part of the state, and includes in its membership the principal professors and teachers in the University of California and some of the most prominent men and women in the state. A large number of the members of the club were with Miss Barnett at the time of the accident and they recovered the body after much perilous climbing and hours of dangerous work. Within a short distance of where the young woman met her death Kenneth Archibald, a San Francisco architect and graduate of Cornell, on an outing with several companions left camp three weeks ago and has not been seen since. He has been given up for dead. It is [illegible]

CHASE DESPERATE MAN

SHERIFF AND 50 MEN FOLLOW MURDERER.

Adolph Jules Who Shot Two Miners and Terrorized Camp Is Pursued by Posse.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., July 15.—Sheriff Chubbuck and a posse of half a hundred men are scouring the hills up and down the Feather river canon for Adolph Jules, alias Pietro Rassi, who killed Antonio Liberatos and Giovanni Puccini yesterday at Camp No. 20 on the Western Pacific railroad. The crime was committed in cold blood.

Jules was compelled by his fellow workers to leave the camp where he was employed last March after a dispute regarding wages. He threatened revenge and Monday morning he returned and camped about a mile from the place. Early yesterday morning he took his rifle and hid behind some brush within range of the tent where the men slept. As they came out he picked them off with the rifle. One dropped alongside of a dump car and the other was shot while climbing a small embankment and fell into a ravine. Three others took refuge behind boulders and escaped.

Jules then shot three times at Foreman Martins and his wife, a bullet clipping off a piece of the woman's clothing. The murderer made his escape without difficulty as he had terrorized all the men in the camp.

SHRINERS CONCLUDE COUNCIL

Will Meet Next Year in Louisville. C. E. Ovenshire Elected Imperial Potentate.

ST. JOSEPH, July 15.—The imperial council of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine today elected officers and decided to hold the conclave of 1909 in Louisville. Four cities were contestants for the gathering of next year—Seattle, Louisville, Atlantic City and Detroit.

The matter was referred to a committee, which reported in favor of Louisville. The report of the committee was adopted late this afternoon. In accordance with precedent, Frank C. Roundy, imperial potentate, was not a candidate for re-election, and became past imperial potentate. The officers below him were each advanced a step. Charles E. Ovenshire of Minneapolis was elected outer imperial guard.

The imperial council today elected officers including the following: Imperial potentate, Edwin I. Alderman, Marion, Iowa; the treasurer and recorder were re-elected.

The council granted dispensations to Masons of Seattle and Ashland, Oregon, to organize shrines in those cities. The new temple in Seattle will be known as Nile. A dispensation was refused to Dawson City, Yukon, Caliam temple, Lewiston, Idaho, whose dispensation was granted a year ago, received its charter today.

An important action of today's session of the council was the raising of the initiation fee to a minimum of $50.

United Mine Workers Want to Be Closer to W. F. of M.

DENVER, July 15.—President Thomas H. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America, accompanied by J. L. Lawson, [illegible] of the executive board, and James Mooney, national organizer of the United Mine Workers, appeared before the convention of the Western Federation of Miners here this afternoon and appealed for closer relations between the two organizations.

The executive board of the federation was ordered by the convention to meet with the United Mine Workers' officials Saturday afternoon in an attempt to bring about a working agreement. The principal difference between the two organizations is the contract system. The United Mine Workers entered into contracts with operators, while the Western Federation does not allow its members to make contracts.

BRYAN HAS A RESPITE

IS RID OF POLITICIANS FOR DAY AND RESTS.

Believes That Vice President Should Sit in Cabinet and Be Taught Something.

FAIRVIEW, LINCOLN, Neb., July 15.—Politicians were conspicuously absent today from Fairview, the home of W. J. Bryan and in consequence the Democratic nominee for the presidency spent a very quiet time. Except for two or three neighbors who called in the early morning to pay their respects there were no visitors and Mr. Bryan was enabled to take up some of his most important correspondence and dispose of it. As yet he has not begun the preparation of his speech of acceptance and the probability is that he will not do so until Mr. Taft's address is delivered.

Mr. Bryan still entertains the view advanced by him in his several campaigns that the vice president of the United States should be admitted to the councils of the cabinet. He believes that the occupant of the vice presidential chair should be accorded greater dignity and not only sit in cabinet meetings and participate in their deliberations, but also should be kept informed on all matters of state in order that he may be in a position to be prepared to perform the duties of President if called upon to assume that office.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The aeronautical tests to be made at Fort Myer are being keenly anticipated and following the announcement that Captain Baldwin's flying machine would arrive this week, many visitors have been attracted to the fort under the impression that a flight would be made immediately. BATTLESHIP FLEET WILL ARRIVE THIS WEEK.

First Division Will Enter Harbor and Second Will Anchor Eastward of Entrance.

HONOLULU, July 15.—After passing the leper settlement on the isle of Molokai early Thursday, the third division of the American fleet including the Louisiana, Virginia, Ohio and Missouri, will go either to Lahaina or Maalaea bay on the island of Maui to coal the first, second and fourth divisions coming to Honolulu. The second division composed of the Georgia, Nebraska, New Jersey and Rhode Island will come to anchor to the eastward of the harbor entrance.

The Illinois, Kearsaege and Kentucky of the fourth division will anchor on the west side of the entrance while the first division consisting of the Connecticut, Kansas, Minnesota and Vermont, with the Wisconsin of the fourth division will enter the harbor. The Connecticut will anchor off the Oceanic Steamship company's wharf, the Kansas and Wisconsin off the Alaska street wharf and the Minnesota and Vermont opposite the naval wharf No. 2. The ships will take on pilots before entering the harbor.

The auxiliary ships, with the exception of the Culgoa and Arethusa, will sail for Auckland, N. Z., July 18. The Panther, Yankton, Ajax and Relief will stop at Pago Pago, Samoa. The Ajax and Glacier will make a stop at Suva, the capital of Fiji.

OHIO REPUBLICANS ARE SOLID

Vorys Says State Will Elect National and Local Tickets by 100,000 Majority.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 15.—Arthur I. Vorys, manager of the national campaign for the Republican party in Ohio, arrived in Hot Springs today and had a long talk with Judge William H. Taft on conditions in Ohio. Mr. Vorys expects that Ohio will give the Republican ticket an old time majority next November.

"This is the time," he said, "when the Democrats always carry Ohio in a Presidential campaign. Ohio Republicans have their own troubles and they all inspire a Democratic hope of an eternal split and bolt. This is the time when these troubles are settled and over. If it required anything to do it, the claims that the Democrats will carry Ohio this fall has completely settled all our troubles and cemented all Republicans in Ohio in a determination to elect the national, state and legislative ticket by 100,000 at least."

Mr. Vorys will remain here several days and will have further talks with Mr. Taft concerning conditions in Ohio.

Suit Started for Lower Ore Rates in Montana

HELENA, Mont., July 15.—What is regarded as the most important hearing in the history of the state board of railroad commissioners began today when the railroads of Montana were called upon to show cause why ore rates should not be reduced on an average of between 25 and 40 per cent.

All of the carriers of the state itself and the Mine Owners association were represented by counsel. Traffic Manager Wentworth of the Northern Pacific occupied the witness stand a major portion of the day.

GREAT BRITAIN DOUBLE WINNER

GETS TWO GOLD MEDALS AT OLYMPIC GAMES.

A POOR DAY FOR AMERICANS

FRANCE AND SWEDEN WIN GOLD MEDALS.

DIVING IS POPULAR FEATURE

Attendance at Sports Is Not Large, But More Attractive Programs Later on Are Expetced to Draw Large Crowds of Spectators.

LONDON, July 15.—The gold medals went to Great Britain, France and Sweden as the winners of the finals of today's events at the Olympic games. Great Britain was a double winner and France and Sweden each secured one first. The United States had to be satisfied with one silver medal, symbolic of second place in the three-mile team race, but the American representation in the various events was small.

It was proudly announced tonight from the offices of the British Olympic association that the attendance at the stadium today was the largest since the opening. The stands certainly filled up during the afternoon, as compared with yesterday, but still, if the number of spectators is to be taken as an evidence, the public is evincing little interest, at least in the preliminary events of the great program, which has brought together upwards of 2,000 athletes, representing almost every civilized country on the globe.

Attendance Not Large.

The weather gave no excuse for the nonattendance of the public, and there were other reasons why the seats should be occupied, but the great crowd which had been expected did not come, and only the cheaper stands contained spectators in any number.

The program, it is true, was not the most interesting from the viewpoint of the man outside of the arena, but occasionally some good sport was witnessed, as when the three-mile race, thus bringing the number of gold medals accredited to Great Britain to four, as compared with two standing to the credit of the United States. The only final in which the latter country participated was the three-mile team race, and the American team finished an easy second.

There were four finals assigned to the day, and of these England won the 660-yard cycling race and the three-mile team race, France captured her gold medal for a victory in the 2,000-meters tandem cycle race, and Sweden for Lemming's record-breaking javelin throw of 178 feet 7½ inches, which topped the best previous throw by more than three feet.

Greece, France and Great Britain each took a silver medal for seconds in the javelin throwing, 660-yards cycling race and the 200-meters event re-

SAYS MANY NICE THINGS ABOUT J. W. KERN.

Democratic Candidate Reaches Home and Is Given Rousing Welcome by Friends.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 15.—The reception given J. W. Kern, the newly nominated Democratic candidate for vice president of the United States, held in the courthouse at 8:30 o'clock tonight was as hearty and generous as the citizens of Indianapolis, regardless of politics, could make it. Fully 5,000 people gathered in Delaware street and in the courthouse yard, gave Mr. Kern a hearty welcome and cheered him enthusiastically. The candidate addressed the big crowd for about 20 minutes after being presented by Charles W. Fairbanks, the vice president of the United States.

Mr. Kern arrived in the city a little after 6 o'clock tonight and was escorted to his home by a large procession. Two hours later he went to the courthouse with Vice President Fairbanks.

Mr. Fairbanks spoke about 10 minutes, paying a fine tribute to his friend and neighbor, J. W. Kern. Mr. Fairbanks spoke as follows:

Mayor Bookwalter and fellow citizens: The duty which you have assigned to me is a very unusual and a very agreeable one. The occasion does not impose upon me the necessity of indulging in any extended utterance. My function is to preside and not to engage in speech beyond a word of greeting and felicitation to our friend in whose honor we are assembled.

We are gathered here without regard to party alignment to welcome and congratulate a fellow citizen who has been greatly honored. We appreciate fully the fact that an honor which comes to one of our fellow citizens is an honor to our entire citizenship. It is a gratifying fact that although our city has grown in population and industrial and commercial strength, we have not lost our neighborly spirit. We still have an interest in each other's welfare and I hope that no matter how great our city may grow, we shall

NO CONFESSION AT DEATH

ITALIAN UNREPENTANT AND DEFIANT TO THE END.

RECALLS WIFE AND CHILDREN

Doomed Man Goes to Scaffold Screaming Maledictions on Priesthood and Showing Every Indication of Religious Insanity Until Death.

CANON CITY, Colo., July 15.—Calling down the maledictions of the most high upon Roman priesthood and shouting "Vive Italia—long live Italy—long live the Protestants"—Guiseppe Alia, the murderer of Father Leo Heinrichs, was carried to the death trap and at exactly 8:30 o'clock paid the extreme penalty of his crime.

Perhaps a more sensational and thrilling scene was never beheld by any of the 16 witnesses present, than the execution of this misguided Italian murderer, whose cries and screams were only hushed by the automatic springing of the mechanism which forever silenced the tongue which had cried for vengeance against those whom this man had considered the destroyers of his home and happiness.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Warden Cleghorn, through his interpreter, Antonio Sasso, a prison guard, read the death warrant to Alia. Contrary to expectations, the prisoner exhibited no emotion, not even moving a muscle, and when the reading was finished, said:

"All right, I am ready to die, now."

Divides Supper for Family.

At 6 o'clock supper was served to the prisoner, it being the regular supper served to the officers of the prison. Before eating he divided it into five portions, saying that one was for his wife, one for himself and one each for his three children. He then ate with apparent composure and relish.

At 7 o'clock Guard Sasso, his fellow countryman, came to him with the information that within an hour the execution would take place. Alia again urged and said he was ready at any time. He further said he felt no sorrow whatever for killing Father Leo. He was certain that he was the man he had been searching for many months and recognized the priest immediately as his former tormenter by a [illegible] extending down to the nose. He said he had worked for Father Leo in Portugal and was sure that he had killed the right man. Alia said he did not believe there was a God, for if so he would not have permitted him to be in his present predicament. He said he found no fault with the law, but that the priest did wrong in breaking up his family.

Death March to Scaffold.

At 8:20 o'clock everything being in readiness, the assistants approached his cell and led the condemned man to the execution house where the black cap and noose were adjusted by the deputy warden. During this procedure Alia became frantic and rent the air with yells and curses calling down maledictions upon the priesthood and shouting "Long live Italy—long live the Protestants."

Chaplain J. T. Blake of the prison uttered a short prayer, the dripping water of the automatic mechanism released the great weight and at exactly 8:30 o'clock the body was jerked into the air.

Unfortunately his neck was not

ROOSEVELT AND REUTERDAHL IN CONFERENCE.

The Marine Artist Is Preparing Another Article and Gets Ideas From President.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 15.—President Roosevelt entertained a dozen guests today, the largest party he has had at his home on Sagamore Hill since he began his vacation. With his guests the President discussed a wide range of topics, naval, political, labor, publishing, hunting and traveling.

After his usual morning exercise the President welcomed Henry Reuterdahl, the marine artist and writer and John Williams, labor commissioner of the state of New York, who came up from New York. Mr. Reuterdahl, who accompanied the Atlantic battleship fleet on its voyage from Hampton Roads to Magdalena bay, and who in an article published last February severely criticised the construction of the battleships of the navy, came to talk with President Roosevelt about naval mat-always continue to rejoice in each other's good fortune.

Is Cordial to Kern.

Mr. Kern, I shall always remember with sincere appreciation the generous and hearty welcome extended to me four years ago. It is particularly gratifying now to meet this assemblage to perform a similar office for you.

The honor which the Denver convention bestowed upon you is one of the two greatest which can be conferred upon an American citizen by his political associates. The honor came to you in a manner to enhance it. It came through the unanimous judgment of a great convention.

While we owe allegiance to different political parties, our differences have never disturbed our friendship or marred our personal relations. I admire you as a friend, neighbor and fellow citizen and rejoice with you in the great distinction which your party has been pleased to confer upon you by nominating you for vice president of the United States. Here political partisan spirit frequently runs high. Our campaigns are usually waged with ardor upon both sides, but we never fail to applaud our neighbor though he differ with us if he wins distinguished honors. We never withold from him an expression of our neighborly appreciation.

Respect for Nominee.

Your neighbors know that, no matter how much men may disagree with your political views, they respect your ability as a lawyer, your eminence as an orator, your integrity as a man, your uprightness as a neighbor and your admirable life within the sacred circle of home.

I cannot wish you success in your cause. I can, however, express the certain conviction that you will be crowned with the increased respect and personal confidence of your neighbors.

Ladies and gentlemen, I present to you Honorable John W. Kern.

Kern Gets Ovation.

Perhaps in all his career as a public speaker, J. W. Kern never was received with more ardent applause than he was when he faced the crowd of 5,000 people. Mr. Kern said in part:

"I am tired and somewhat travelworn tonight and I don't know whether I can make myself heard to the uttermost limits of this vast audience. I am sure that I can find no words which will in any measure express the emotions of my heart upon this occasion.

"It is true, as has been said, a mark of distinction has been given me by the national convention of my party and the convention and the men it represents I am deeply grateful but I am more grateful to Almighty God for the friends he has given me in Indianapolis regardless of political affiliations."

Kern Acclaimed on Trip.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 15.—John W. Kern, the Democratic nominee for vice president met many old friends and made a lot of new ones as he rode toward home from Chicago today.

At Kankakee, a large crowd was at the station and a number of men boarded the train and shook hands with Mr. Kern. The town of Fowler stopped business to see the train come in. Mr. Kern did not attempt to make a speech, but shook hands with all who could reach him.

At Lafayette, a stop of 10 minutes was made and a huge crowd was at the station. As Mr. Kern appeared on the platform of the rear car, he was greeted with hearty cheers.

"The boys of Indiana people took mighty good to me," he said.

"Yes, and you look good to us" shouted the crowd.

"I am returning from the national convention of my party bringing with me a very great honor, which I did not seek, and which at my request was not sought by the delegation from my state, but when various sections of the country united in giving me the nomination, I felt it my duty as a loyal son of Indiana to accept it. I hope to wear the honor worthily and in such a manner as to bring no discredit upon my party or my state. I regard the nomination as a testimonial not to my own ability or merit, but rather as a compliment of the great state of my nativity.

Boosts for Indiana.

"The convention saw the commanding position of Indiana, seated at the foot of the great lakes. The center of population of the Republic, the central star in the galaxy on the flag, is not unmindful of her great institutions, among which Purdue stands out so prominently.

"Remembering her great authors, novelists, poets, artists; bearing in mind too, the splendid record of her great statesmen in time of peace and the glorious record of her soldiers and sailors in time of war, that convention felt impelled to confer this badge of distinction on this great commonwealth. It is my ambition to conduct my part of this campaign in a clean and dignified manner.

"I shall have no fault to find with any citizen of Indiana who in the discharge of the duties of citizenship shall cast his ballot against me. A free untrammeled right to vote his sentiments is one of the priceless heritages of the American citizen which no man ought to challenge. I cannot at this time discuss political questions. During the progress of the campaign I hope to visit Lafayette and discuss them fully. I have always entertained for your people individually and collectively the highest respect and regard."

GUISEPPE ALIA PAYS PENALTY

broken owing to the slipping of the rope and he died of strangulation.

After 19 minutes his body was cut down and he was pronounced dead.

Story of Crime.

Guiseppe Alia's crime, the murder of Father Leo Heinrichs of the Order of Franciscan Monks, at the altar rail in St. Elizabeth's church in Denver, while the priest was administering the sacrament of the Eucharist, struck horror to the heart of every person in Denver and awakened anxiety throughout the Catholic world lest it should prove the beginning of a general plan of priest-murder.

Alia had been in Denver several weeks, unemployed and apparently penniless. Early on the morning of Sunday, February 23, according to his story, he was aroused from sleep by the ringing of the chimes in St. Elizabeth's church. He arose, dressed himself hurriedly and walked out to the church, led by the musical tones pealing forth a call to worship. But he went not with the thought of thanksgiving in his mind, for he declared, and many times repeated, after his arrest that the chimes recalled alleged wrongs experienced in his native Italy, and attributed by him to the church.

Awaited Victim at Altar.

Entering the church, Alia went through the usual ceremony of blessing himself with holy water, and then seated himself where his view of the altar would be unobstructed. There he followed the ritual, up to the point where communion is given to all who are prepared. Alia approached the altar and, kneeling, awaited the arrival of the priest officiating at the communion, not knowing or caring who it should be.

A number of other communicants had assumed the same posture, and places at the communion rail were practically all taken. When Father Leo appeared with the consecrated wafers, all at the rail seemed impressed with the solemnity and sacredness of the service and inspired with thoughts of God. Alia, however, according to his own statement, could barely restrain a desire to spring at the throat of the priest, despite the place, the scene and the peculiarly sacred character of the action in progress.

Along the line passed the priest, placing upon the tongue of each successive communicant the consecrated wafer and repeating the lines of the mass declaring the Eucharist thus administered is the Savior himself in person. Alia was now the next in line. Father Leo, placing the wafer upon the tongue of the stranger, all unsuspecting of the murderous design in Alia's heart, began: "Take, eat; this is my body ..." but stopped, horror-stricken. The subject of the prayer had spat the blessed morsel from his mouth.

Shoots Priest Through Heart.

Almost simultaneously with this desecration a shot rang out and Father Leo sank to the floor mortally wounded. A bullet from a revolver fired by Alia had penetrated the priest's heart. Father Wulstan Workman, hearing the shot, rushed from the adjoining sacristy just in time to administer to Father Leo the last sacrament, Father Leo expiring a moment later in the arms of his brother priest. Immediately after firing the shot, Alia, with a curse, darted toward the main aisle of the church and rushed for the door. With pair dishevled and smoking gun flourished over his head, he made his way to within 10 feet of the portal, where he tripped and fell.

Cronin Captures Assassin.

Policeman Daniel Cronin, who was among the worshippers, wrenched the gun from Alia's hand and dragged him to the street in an effort to protect him from the maddened worshippers. Outside, the policeman and his charge were surrounded by several hundred persons, who were about to tear Alia from the officer's hands, when several priests and Franciscan brothers appeared on the steps and pleaded with the enraged people to leave the avenging of the awful murder to God.

The presence of the ecclesiastics interceding for the life of the destroyer of a beloved brother had effect. The single policeman was permitted to take Alia away in a buggy hastily driven to police headquarters. Several hours later Alia was spirited out of town in an automobile and taken to Colorado Springs for safekeeping.

Defense Pleaded Insanity.

The trial was comparatively brief, but every opportunity of defense was given. Insanity was offered as a plea to escape the noose. The best alienists in Denver testified that Alia was sane, and he was sentenced to be hanged. A petition from citizens in Alia's native town in Italy pleading for his life, and declaring that he was undoubtedly insane, was forwarded to the Italian consul here, but for some reason unexplained, was never presented to the governor. Many believe that the murder of Father Leo was part of an anarchist plot against the Catholic clergy, but nothing has recently transpired tending to substantiate this view. Previous to coming to Denver, Father Leo lived at Paterson, N. J. Paterson is the headquarters of the Franciscan monks in this country, and it has been thought possible that he incurred the enmity of someone or perhaps a group of anarchists there, personal in its nature and applying only to him. His great popularity and goodness of heart went strongly to disprove this theory, and no evidence to support it has come to light. Whether or not Alia brooded over fancied wrongs until his mind became diseased, it is admitted that for years he had entertained a hatred for the priesthood, and on the Sunday morning when the chimes sounded from the church, he had apparently lost all power of control for good, but the cunning of evil remained. The result was murder which has no parallel in history.

States navy and that it was his wish to consult the President regarding this. When Mr. Reuterdahl returned from his visit with the President he said he came to talk of naval matters, but that he could not tell what the matters were. Questioned whether any of the alleged differences between himself and the President were touched upon during the visit, Mr. Reuterdahl said:

"So far there have never been any differences except in the imagination of some people."

Regarding his attitude on naval matters, he said:

"If we are going to get a new navy, everyone should be interested in getting as good a navy as possible and the President believes in that idea."

Mr. Williams, who with Mr. Reuterdahl returned to New York, said he talked with the President on labor matters, but would not say what they were, preferring that anything more definite should come from the President. Shortly after the departure of his two morning guests, the President received a party of 10. Charles F. Brookerm, Republican national committeeman from Connecticut; C. A. Moore of the American Protective Tariff league, and his son, Arthur Moore, who has hunted in Africa; Percy Madeira of Philadelphia, and W. F. Whitehouse, Jr., of New York, both of whom have spent some time in Africa; Charles Scribner, the New York publisher; F. D. Millet, the artist, who is a member of the American commission to the Tokio exposition; Major Edgar A. Mearns, surgeon in the United States army, and a naturalist; Henry Fairfield Osborn, a geologist connected with the American Museum of Natural History in New York, who has had experience in Africa, and Dr. Alexander Lambert of New York.

It was a jolly party that sat around the President's table at luncheon, and Mr. Roosevelt was in the best of spirits. African hunting was the principal theme during the afternoon. The President listened with great interest to the experiences of the several guests who have been in that country and asked many questions for information which will help him when he goes there to hunt next year with his son, Kermit.

The political situation was discussed by National Committeeman Brooker and the President, but just what phase of it was the subject of their talk could not be learned.

With Charles Scribner the President had a talk regarding the publication of his writings on the African hunting trip. The President's guests departed during the afternoon.

Diving Is Good Feature.

Another event in the tank which attracted much attention was the fancy diving, the third and fourth heats of which were decided. Behrns of Germany won the third heat with 82.5 points, Errington of England and Metzell of Finland tied for second with 79.83 points. Potts of England captured the fourth heat, his score being 82.5, while Nicolai of Germany was second with 80. The tank was occupied for another hour by the contestants in the 200-meters breast stroke swim, seven heats being decided.

The following men qualified for the final, and will swim on Saturday: Holman of England, Persson of Sweden, Seidel of Germany, Toldy of Hungary, Robinson of England, Fabinyi of Hungary, and Courbet of Belgium. A. M. Goessling of the Missouri Athletic club, the only American entered, took third place in the second heat, and therefore did not qualify. The five-mile run, which is also down for Saturday, should prove a great race. The eliminating trials have left the following to fight it out for the championship: Svanberg and Landquist of Sweden, Hefferon of South Africa, Voight, Murphy, Robertson and Owen of England, Bellars and Carr of the United States, and Meadows, Fitzgerald and Galbraith of Canada.

It was learned tonight that Eisele, who made such a plucky fight for America in the team race, lost the nail off one of his toes yesterday and was suffering greatly when he went to the scratch today, but he never flinched, and not until he reached his dressing room after the contest did he complain of the pain.

MARK TWAIN ON PROHIBITION

"Crossing the Atlantic with Mark Twain last summer," said a W. C. T. U. woman, "I asked his opinion of the prohibition law. His reply was very characteristic, very humorous.

"'I am a friend of temperance, and want it to succeed,' he said, 'but I don't think prohibition is practical. The Germans, you see, prevent it. Look at them. I am sorry to learn that they have just invented a method of making brandy out of sawdust. Now what chance will prohibition have when a man can take a rip saw and go out and get drunk with a fence rail? What is the good of prohibition if a man is able to make brandy smashes out of the shingles of his roof, or if he can get delirium tremens by drinking the legs off the kitchen chairs?'"

NO RACE THIS FALL

HARVARD CREW WILL NOT MEET CAMBRIDGE.

Lawrence K. Lunt Gets Notice to This Effect From Captain John Richardson.

Harvard will not meet the Cambridge crew in the proposed race on the Thames this coming fall. Definite word to this effect was received by Lawrence K. Lunt of this city, a member of the crew, in a letter received from Captain John Richardson, Jr., yesterday.

The Harvard captain states that he is in receipt of word from Cambridge to the effect that the crew will compete in several of the Olympic events and for that reason will be compelled to keep in training practically throughout the summer. Because of this fact it is unwilling to prolong its training in order to have a race in September, as had been projected.

DES MOINS GETS TWO ZEBS

Cramer and Walsh to Join Western Leaguers—Booth of La Junta Coming.

Frank Cramer, right fielder, and J. Bulger Walsh, second baseman, of the Colorado Springs Zebs will play hereafter in the Western league in the Des Moines uniform. Both men have been signed by Manager Charles Dexter, and will join the team in Pueblo today. Both will probably play in the outfield, and from the article of ball they have exhibited at Roswell park, will shine brilliantly in faster company, both as fielders and batters.

Manager Don Goddard of the Zebs is already on the trail of several good men to fill the vacancies and while the withdrawal of these two favorites will be regretted by the fans, the team will be strengthened and will be able to keep its peace at the top of the heap in the State association. Booth, who plays a fast game at second for La Junta, will reach Colorado Springs today and will be given a tryout Saturday and Sunday series with the Luxus here. Several outfielders are in view.

RAIN STOPS BALL GAME

Contest May Be Pulled Off Here Next Monday.

Rain which fell at the inopportune moment yesterday afternoon made fruitless the car ride of several hundred fans to Roswell park. The Des Moines Western league team had been billed as an attraction, but the rain was particularly heavy in the vicinity of the ball park and before the gates were opened the diamond was flooded.

Des Moines has another open date after its Pueblo series and if arrangements can be made, the game will be played off here on Monday of next week.

NOT GOOD ENOUGH TO BE COP

Sheppard, Fastest Runner in World, Was Rejected By New York Police Surgeon.

NEW YORK, July 15.—After Melvin W. Sheppard defeated the fleetest runners in the world in the Olympic games at London yesterday, it was learned here that a few weeks ago his application for a position on the New York police force was rejected because of physical disability. The police surgeons who examined him reported that they found him suffering from enlargement of the heart and hardening of arteries. But his case has been taken up by the civil service commissioners and another effort will be made to have him accepted as a wearer of the policeman's blue.

AMERICAN BRAINS WIN CHESS

Referee Declares Unfinished Games Draws, Leaving Yankees the Championship.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Referee Walter Penn Shipley of Philadelphia, sent word from that city today that he has decided to call draws both unfinished games in the intercollegiate international chess match, left unfinished March 21. America thus wins the match by 3½ games to 2½.

Six students representing Columbia, Harvard, Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania, played the match against Oxford and Cambridge. While four games were definitely decided two were left unfinished. The referee who had assistance from a great number of experts, spent nearly four months in analyzing the position and arrived finally at the decision that both should be declared draws.

ADAMS IS ACQUITTED

Man Accused of Murder of A. L. Collins Given His Liberty.

GRAND JUNCTION, July 15.—At 1:20 o'clock this afternoon the jury in the case of Steve Adams, the Western Federation miner, accused of the murder of Arthur L. Collins, general manager of the Smuggler Union mine at Telluride three years ago, returned a verdict of not guilty.

Adams was in the court room when the jury sent word that it was ready to report, and was immediately given his liberty. Contrary to expectation, he was not re-arrested.

The jury retired at 10:30, and it is said that only one ballot was taken. The case has attracted national attention, being closely connected with the famous Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone cases in Idaho, where the officers of the Western Federation were charged with the murder of former Governor Steunenberg.

Adams spent but a short time in the hotel and then disappeared. It is reported that he was taken by friends to the railroad yards where he boarded a westbound Rio Grande passenger train for the home of his uncle, who resides somewhere in Oregon.

ONE KIND OF MORALITY.

Senator Beveridge, during a recent address in Boston, illustrated a moral idea with a story about a financier.

"Let me tell you," he said, "what this financier's morality was like. An acquaintance noticed one day that he turned his head aside as a young millionaire was passing.

"'What is the matter?' the acquaintance asked. 'Don't you speak to young Currantsea any more? You used to do a lot of business with him.'

"'Indeed I don't speak to him,' the financier shouted. 'Hadn't he the audacity to say I swindled him out of sixty thousand dollars?'

"'Oh, dear, no, he didn't,' the other objected. 'He only said forty thousand.'

"'Well, that's different. I've been misinformed,' said the financier in a mollified tone, and turning, he bowed to the young millionaire very graciously."

MILLIONS FOR FAIRS.

Since the United States government began to patronize expositions, down to the Jamestown fair, congress has appropriated a total of $28,752,251 for world's fairs, of which only $485,000 has been spent west of the Rocky mountains, at the Lewis and Clark exposition.

PROHIBITIONISTS READY FOR WORK

he concluded his address at the first session of the convention today. Mr. Patton's speech, both in matter and in manner of delivery, made a strong impression upon the delegates, and before the morning adjournment had been taken his boom was fairly under way.

Indiana for Patton.

The Indiana delegates led the movement in behalf of Mr Patton. The friends of Charles Scanlon, who is to be the permanent chairman of the convention, claims tonight to feel greatly encouraged over the progress their candidate is making. Mr. Scanlon made an address tonight in Memorial hall to a large number of the delegates and their friends, which was received with much applause. The gathering, however, was no part of the regular convention proceedings. It is expected that his address upon assuming the chairmanship tomorrow will be short.

The committee on resolutions met after the adjournment of the morning session of the convention and delegated the task of writing the platform to a subcommittee of five composed of Samuel Dickie of Michigan, Quincy L. Morrill of South Dakota, Eugene Chapin of Illinois, Frank Sibley of Arizona and [illegible] of Pennsylvania.

Platform Is Ready.

When the subcommittee made its report at 9:30 o'clock tonight the platform had been in great part arranged and it is expected that it will be accepted as it has been drawn unless some fight which is not now believed to be probable, is made upon some portion of it. The document itself has not yet been prepared but the principal planks to be incorporated will be about as follows.

There will be a declaration in favor of extending suffrage to women, the election of senators by direct vote of the people, and a ringing declaration against the existing revenue laws which permit the issuance of licenses to saloons.

The platform will also declare in favor of the enactment of a graduated income tax [illegible] will be made that a proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States prohibiting the liquor traffic, be submitted to the people. This is intended to meet the question raised in Congress at the last session that federal regulation of liquor traffic is unconstitutional when it extends beyond interstate traffic. This plank, together with that denouncing the revenue laws which permit the issuance of licenses is expected to cover the attitude of the party on the questions of license and direct prohibition.

Local Option Not Favored.

The sentiment of the party wherever heard expressed is opposed to local option or anything but the complete wiping out of the liquor traffic. The establishment of postal savings banks will be favored. A declaration will be made in favor of government regulation of corporations engaged in interstate commerce. The creation of a nonpartisan commission for the purpose of studying and recommending needful existing tariff schedules will also be urged. The platform will also contain an arraignment of official tolerance in the large cities of the country of the traffic in girls.

The woman suffrage plank as outlined has been productive of extensive debates in former conventions of the party and it may create trouble before it is finally accepted.

The national committee met tonight and re-elected all of its old officers. These were: Chairman, Charles R. Jones, Evanston, Ill.; vice chairman, A. G. Wolfenberger, Lincoln, Neb.; secretary, Al G. Calderwood, Minneapolis; treasurer, Felix T. McWhirter, Indianapolis.

Among the members of the new national committee so far as selected is Alfred D. Tainton and John W. Carpenter of Colorado.

ELKS "LODGE OF SORROW"

Deceased Members Remembered at Grand Lodge Meeting

DALLAS, Texas, July 15.—Today's session of the Elks grand lodge was devoted to the "lodge of sorrow," the impressive service of the order in commemoration of the deceased members, various prominent Elks paying tribute to those who had died during the past year. Henry M. Melvin, judge of superior court of Alameda county, California, was among those speaking. Following the "lodge of sorrow," Percy Clay of Denver read a report of the question of destruction of the elk, which was brought up in the Philadelphia lodge meeting. No final action was taken.

GARDNER FOR GOVERNOR

Maine Democrats Nominate Leader and Declare Platform.

BANGOR, Maine, July 15.—Maine Democrats in convention today unanimously nominated Obadiah Gardner of Rockland, for governor. The platform declares for resubmission of the prohibitory law; repeal of the Sturgis law; abolition of the state liquor agency system, a 58-hour week for women and children in factories and prohibition of child labor in factories.

FISHER IS SET FREE.

Man Who Shot His Brother Dead Exonerated by Jury.

DENVER, July 15.—James Fisher, who shot and killed his elder brother, Albert, last Sunday to protect their mother and sister from threatened attack, was declared not guilty of murder and was honorably discharged by Justice Delappe this afternoon. The coroner's jury had previously exonerated the young man.

INCREASES CAPITALIZATION

Union Tank Line Is Now Incorporated for $12,000,000.

TRENTON, N. J., July 15.—The Union Tank Line company, a subsidiary concern of the Standard Oil company, this afternoon filed papers with the secretary of state increasing its authorized capitalization from $3,500,000 to $12,000,000.

William, aged 64 years, the prospective bridegroom who had obtained a license to wed a 15 year old girl and whose body was found hanging to a tree, near Marydel, Md., yesterday, was murdered was established by the coroner's jury which held a coroner's inquest in the case. The jury found that Williams came to his death by a blow on the head from a blunt instrument in the hand of some person or persons unknown.

It was at first believed that the man had committed suicide, but the finding of a marriage license and other peculiar circumstances led the authorities to make an investigation. The license contained the names of Williams and Elizabeth Wall, daughter of a tenant on the Williams farm. About a year ago the wife of Williams died and after getting a tenant for his farm he went to reside with a daughter and the fact that he was paying attention to the little girl was not known to the community. Williams visited a daughter living near Crumpton, Md., last Saturday and after leaving her home was not again seen till the body was found strung up to the tree with the evident intention of leading the community to believe that he had committed suicide. The police authorities are working on the theory that the girl was slain to prevent his marriage to a mere child.

MAKE BALOON TESTS

assisted by the balloon squad of 10 men, are making preparations for the tests.

A large circus tent will be pitched south of the parade ground of the fort and an automobile will be provided to follow the airship in its flight and to lend assistance in case of need. Lieutenant Foulois who has recently graduated from the signal corps school at Leavenworth, is mapping out the courses over which the tests will be made. They are to extend five miles from the fort, specifications requiring that the airship shall fly over a course 10 miles in length—five miles out and return.

Of the two courses considered, the most desirable one lies south from Fort Myer to Alexandria, Va., and the other in a westerly direction to Falls Church, Va.

According to his contract Captain Baldwin must have his completed machine at Fort Myer by July 27, after which he has one month in which to make three flights before the army board.

His machine must carry two men, remain in the air for one hour or more and attain a speed of not less than 18 miles an hour. Captain Baldwin must also train two officers of the signal corps to fly his machine.

WOODMEN WANT CASH

File Suits Against Officials of Bank to Recover $350,000.

DES MOINES, July 15.—The Modern Woodmen of America filed a suit in the federal court here today for $420,755 against James H. Jamison, receiver of the First National bank of Charlton, Ia., and L. O. Murray, comptroller of the currency for the United States government.

The petitioners demand a sum of $350,000 cash that was deposited in the bank with interest from December 7, 1907, and a fine of $50,000.

PEACE OF THE HAREM.

There Real Freedom Is Found for Women, Says Mme Myriam Harry.

With women of all countries clamoring for the parliamentary franchise it comes rather as a surprise to find one woman writer who goes to the other extreme and speaks enthusiastically of the quiet delights of the Oriental harem.

Myriam Harry is a novelist and has written some powerful studies of Oriental life; she is herself of eastern origin. She suggests in the Paris Matin that women will presently grow tired of their attempts to rival and surpass man, that they will relinquish their ambition to become lawyers and doctors and members of parliament.

They will realize that this is a spurious freedom, that the real freedom, freedom that is from the absurd worries of an everyday existence and the strain and stress of modern social life, resides in purely domestic and retired surroundings. Mme Harry does not specifically recommend the harem but through the lips of an Oriental princess she sings of its perfect peace and tranquility of soul and its perfect modesty.

The princess in her conversation shows how incomprehensible to her is the attitude of the western man who allows his wife, whom he professes to cherish, to go unveiled in the street. "Does a man cast away a precious object, an object he prizes, allow it to be in the street?" she makes the princess ask.

This seems somewhat singular argument for a woman who has conquered a place for herself in contemporary fiction which presumably would not have been hers if she had passed her days in a harem.

LANGUAGE OF THE HAIR

From the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A man can tell a great deal about a woman by studying the manner in which she dresses her hair. One who makes too much observance of the extremes of fashion is apt to be a stickler for form, and, in consequence an uncomfortable person. It is the woman who is able to discern the beauty in mean who meets all complexities pleasantly.

THE HELPLESS BACHELOR.

From the London Sketch.

The married man lives scientifically; he never pays a bill twice or thrice over because he has lost the receipt. The bachelor lives unscientifically. He is robbed right and left; he is the prey of every footpad that lurks behind counters.

subsequently a conference of the eastern leaders will be held in New York city.

Chairman Hitchcock will leave Washington tomorrow for Colorado Springs. On the way he will stop in Chicago on Friday to make arrangements for western Republican headquarters in that city. Already by telegram and long distance telephone he has arranged in part for the headquarters he desires in Chicago and on his arrival there it will probably take him a few hours to complete his plans. His headquarters will be located in an office building. Chairman Hitchcock preferring such a location to a hotel.

In this connection it can be said to be not unlikely that Mr. Hitchcock will make his permanent headquarters during the campaign in Chicago instead of New York. He has the question under consideration but has received no definite conclusion.

Vice Chairman in Doubt.

Final decision of the matter may depend to some extent upon the selection of a vice chairman of the national committee. It is not been determined yet who that may be and it is not the purpose of Mr. Hitchcock to name the vice chairman until he is prepared to announce the national executive committee. He may not make this announcement until early in August.

At the conclusion of the Colorado Springs conference Chairman Hitchcock will return to Chicago for a brief stay in that city and will go thence to Cincinnati to attend the ceremonies incident to the notification of Judge Taft of his nomination for the presidency. The notification will take place July 28.

From Cincinnati, Mr. Hitchcock intends to go to New York in order to open formally the national headquarters in that city about August 1. The headquarters in Chicago will be opened a week or 10 days later.

Is Rushing Preparations.

Mr. Hitchcock returned today from New York, where he completed the preliminary arrangements for the headquarters and closed contracts for many necessary supplies. When he visited Representative Sherman at Utica plans were practically perfected by which there will be intimate cooperation between the Republican national and the congressional committees. It already has been decided that the literary bureaus of the two committees shall be merged into one and that the work shall be directed from national headquarters by Francis Curtiss, who has had extended experience in campaign editorial work with the congressional committee. Will have charge of the educational department while some men yet to be selected will attend to the executive work of the literary bureau. It is not improbable that while the identity of the two committees will be preserved, the speakers' bureaus also may be directed from national headquarters.

Chairman Hitchcock expressed gratification today at the condition of Representative Sherman's health.

He has gained strength rapidly in the last few days and Mr. Hitchcock expressed the belief that he had quite recovered from his recent serious illness.

COUGHED UP BRASS KEY.

Elwood (Ind.) Dispatch to the Indianapolis News.

Norman, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meto, swallowed a brass key three inches long with which he was playing, and for three days the neighbors were in a highly nervous state, owing to the parents being Christian Scientists and refusing to call in medical aid to relieve the boy.

After two days the boy was seized with a coughing spell, and during an especially violent retching threw up the key. The parents assert that the key was expelled from the child's stomach through the prayers of the sect which numbers about 50 in this city and the event is causing much talk among the church people. The boy was not ill while the key was in his stomach, and physicians who have investigated the case are as puzzled as the neighbors who interested themselves in the affair.

WANT LOWER SMELTER RATES

De La Vergne and Colburn on Committee to Draft Plans—Mining Men Fight Trust.

Former State Senator E. M. De La Vergne of this city and E. A. Colburn of Denver, also formerly of Colorado Springs, are members of the committee on smelter rates appointed by the American Mining congress, which is meeting in Denver with western mining representatives, to draft plans to be submitted to the smelters looking to the doing away with alleged excessive rates of treatment. The other members of the committee are George W. Riter of Salt Lake City and Dr. L. D. Godshall of Needles, Cal.

The congress has been making a fight on the smelters for the last 18 months. Dr. Godshall, who conducts an independent plant, claims that the "smelter trust" gets practically all the profits of mining. Legal proceedings may be instituted against the trust.

Plans were discussed in a general way during a meeting in the chamber of commerce rooms in Denver last night.

A. L. Lovelace of Portland, Ore., one of the prime movers of the Stopers of the World, is in attendance and will seek to bring about co-operation of the two organizations.

The committee for protection against mining frauds will meet later in the week. This committee will propose a plan whereby the promoter of an illegitimate mining scheme and the salesman of "wildcat" stock will be more vigorously punished than at present.

It will urge the passage of a law in the various states making it a misdemeanor to misrepresent property for sale. Its plan also includes a system of publicity that will enable the eastern investor to distinguish between a "wildcat" mine and a legitimate proposition.

A bill providing a government bureau of mines and mining has already passed the lower House of Congress, and at the next session will come up for its third reading in the Senate, where its passage is practically assured. Efforts to make sure of it, however, will not be abated.

The congress will also amend certain by-laws. It is proposed to authorize the creation of local organizations, which may settle all local troubles and to take to the central body only matters of national importance.

Another revision will provide the right to individual members to vote by proxy and allow the president of a local organization to cast the entire vote of his local. The president will be made a member of a special advisory committee, to sit with the board of directors of the congress, thus bringing about closer affiliation.

Foley's Kidney Cure will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. No medicine can do more. For sale by all dealers.

REDICK M. RIDGLEY IS HERE

Prominent Illinois Politiiacn Visiting in This City.

Redick M. Ridgley, delegate at large from Illinois to the national Democratic convention recently held at Denver, is a visitor in this city for a few days, and is stopping at the Antlers.

Mr. Ridgley enjoys other distinctions in addition to being a delegate from his home state. He was one of the oldest delegates in the convention, having passed his 78th birthday anniversary some months ago. In spite of his more than three score and ten, he is as live a Democrat as has appeared on the scene during the Bryan love feast. Although he has voted the straight Democratic ticket for the past 57 years the veteran member of the party has not been able to keep all of the family sheep within the folds of Democracy's banner. One nephew, William Ridgley, has not only became an ardent Republican, but so far departed the path of his ancestors as to become comptroller of the currency under a Republican administration.

Regardless of his advanced years Mr. Ridgley continues active in politics and is held in affectionate esteem among his colleagues as the wheel horse of his district, that surrounding Springfield, Ill. He expects to continue a worker for the cause of Democracy for many more years and is confident that he will live long enough to help elect a Democratic President of the United States.

FUNERAL—The funeral of Eugene Cortella will be held from the Church of the Stranger at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Manitou News

HAS MUCH WORK TO DO

CLASSIFICATION COMMITTEE IS MEETING AT MANITOU.

May Devise Plan Whereby Freight Business Will Be Conducted Under One Set of Rules.

Beginning its annual three weeks' session, the western classification committee, composed of the traffic officials of the western roads, yesterday held its first session at the Masonic temple in Manitou. One hundred and ninety general freight agents and shippers are present. The committee has a mass of detail to consider. It began its work yesterday by taking up some of the particular phases of the questions to be considered. The committee will meet every morning at 10 o'clock, but tomorrow will make a special trip to Glenwood Springs, resuming its work when it returns.

The principal business to come before the committee will be an attempt to devise some plan whereby the freight business of all railroads throughout the country will be conducted under one set of classification rules. This problem has heretofore been considered impossible, but the western roads hope that some method will yet be devised to do away with the present system. There are now three sets of classification rules in operation, one being used in the east, another in the south and the third in the west.

There are nearly 500 items on the docket for the consideration of the bureau at the present meeting. Many of them are of vital importance to western shippers, and while no actual rates are changed, the changing of the classification of freight matter will have the effect of raising or lowering the rates.

MANITOU NEWS NOTES.

Mrs. A. W. Reno yesterday announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Stella Reno, to Curt Goerke. Mr. Goerke is one of the prominent business men of Manitou. He is a graduate of the Colorado Springs High school, and last year was president of the High School Alumni association. The date for the wedding has not been announced.

Governor George W. Dougherty and wife of Arkansas, spent yesterday in Manitou, leaving last night for Yellowstone park. After a two weeks' trip they will return to spend the month of August in Manitou, having made reservations at the Mansions.

An indication of the large tourist business Manitou is experiencing at the present time, is the fact that two of the largest hotels yesterday afternoon reported their houses completely filled.

Dr. G. L. Wickes, U. S. A., and his wife, were in Manitou yesterday, taking lunch at the Mansions.

"Little Bill" Taft of New York, a cousin of William H. Taft, is at the Mansions.

Judge J. H. Wynne of Tennessee is the guest of H. H. Grafton for a few weeks.

Miss Leah Babcock has returned to the Mansions for the summer.

The Rev. B. W. Benell held services at the Mission at Divide yesterday.

Senator Thomas P. Gore and wife of Oklahoma, are at the Navajo hotel.

FEMALE RAILROAD MAGNATE.

The election of a woman to the presidency of a railroad company is reported by the Chicago Inter-Ocean. A correspondent for that paper, under date of Colfax, Iowa, January 2, says: "Mrs. T. M. Hooper was elected president of the Colfax Northern railroad company today, succeeding her late husband, who controlled the stock of the road until his death. The road is only twelve miles long, but handles a large coal tonnage, and is very valuable. Mrs. Hooper announces it will probably be doubled in length this year, opening up a large additional coal territory. It is a connection of the Chicago Great Western."

NEW PLANT FOR DISTILLING AND AERATING WATER

The El Paso Ice and Coal Co. have just installed a new plant especially designed and built for distilling and aerating water for drinking purposes. By the use of block tin throughout, and aerating with filtered air by a new process, an absolutely pure drinking water is obtained which is delightfully refreshing and pleasant to the taste. They are selling the water at 10 cents per gallon, delivered in bulk or sterilized stone jars, and at lower rates for larger quantities. Call up Distilled Water Department, Telephone 46, and give a trial order, or ask to have sample delivered you free. This water is also put up in half-gallon bottles, and sold for $2.50 per dozen, and in quart bottles charged with pure carbonic gas (making an unequaled sparkling table water), at $2.00 per dozen. These bottled waters are now on sale at W. N. Burgess' grocery and will be sold at other places where such waters are sold and dispensed.

WOMAN WAS A CAPTAIN.

Mrs. Emily E. Woodley, who is said to be the only woman ever regularly commissioned an officer in the United States army, died recently in Philadelphia at the age of 73. She was the last of the 35 young women from Philadelphia who enlisted as nurses in the Civil war. She was a widow of 26 when she offered her services as a nurse in 1861, and for her bravery and good work President Lincoln conferred on her a commission as captain in the army. She was later decorated with a gold medal by Secretary of War Stanton. For a number of years she was president of the National Association of Army Nurses of the Civil War, which she organized, and was the only woman member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

AFRICA'S SPITTING SERPENT.

Saliva of This Peculiar Snake Causes Disease of the Eyes.

From the Paris Edition of the New York Herald.

In tropical Africa a serpent is met with which, when it judges its enemy within range, ejects a liquid, the action being accompanied by a sound similar to that produced when one suddenly forces a little saliva between the closed incisors with the tongue acting as a piston. This animal is rightly termed the "spitting serpent." It is the black naja. Is this liquid dangerous? Some say it is, others say not.

M. M. Bargy, a doctor in the French colonial army, was enabled to observe recently that when the liquid of the black naja comes into contact with the eyes it may causes lesions. The case was that of a European sergeant of the Second Senegalais who, on July 20 last, at 2 o'clock in the morning, was awakened by a noise in his fowlhouse, due to the presence of a large naja, at which he shot with a fowling piece. Believing the reptile to be dead, he drew close to it with a light, when the animal drew itself up and from a distance of scarcely a meter squirted some drops of saliva into his left eye.

The sergeant immediately felt a sharp burning sensation, which was followed the same evening and the day after by a violent inflammation. This gave way five days later to the antiseptic and astringent lotions which were applied.

The interest of this observation resides less in the banality of the lesions observed than in the confirmation of the poisonous nature, little accentuated though it might be, of the saliva of the spitting serpent.

MRS. RORER'S DAIRYMAID.

Mrs. S. T. Rorer, the famous cooking expert, had been congratulated in her New York restaurant on her attendants' deftness and skill.

"They never break a thing," the visitor concluded.

"A rare gift that—never to break a thing," said Mrs. Rorer. "Only the other night, dining with some friends of mine, I saw a maid drop and break a superb platter that contained two roast canvasback ducks.

"Our host did not permit this accident to ruffle him. While we waited for some other course to be substituted for the last one, he said:

"You must excuse that maid. She really couldn't help it. These accidents happen almost daily with her. I think it is a disease. She was, I believe, a dairymaid originally, but she had to abandon that occupation on account of her inability to handle the cows without breaking their horns."

WATCHING A LEAF BREATHE.

From the New York Press.

It is a beautiful lesson, even an education, to watch the leaf breathe. I have a lilac tree, just a common, old-fashioned lilac, such as the picnickers strip every day in their spring outings and fetch home to smell sweet for an hour, then fade and stink. Picnickers never stop to think of the damage they do. On a single square inch of a lilac leaf, stolen from my tree, as many as 120,000 little mouths are waiting to be fed. If left alone the rapidity with which they act is so great that a thin current of air passing over the leaves is almost immediately deprived by them of the carbonic acid it contains. If a six-foot branch of a very lively tree is torn off at noon on a hot day its leaves are dead in an hour and half; dead beyond resurrection.

BRIDGES THE CHASM.

From the Monroe Inquirer.

Blackberry pie bridges the chasm between the millionaire and the pauper. It is found on the mahogany table of the haughty society leader and on the oil-cloth covered pine table of the lowly washerwoman. It is on the bill of fare of the grandest hotel and is fed to the inmates of the poorhouse. The rich man who rides in his gasoline buggy and the poor tramp who rides the rods under the freight car or steps from cross-tie to cross-tie in the blistering sun meet on a common level at the lunch counter, and both order blackberry pie. In a word, blackberry pie is the one article of diet which makes the whole world kin. Blackberry time, good folks, is here.

TO TEACH IN TURKEY

TWO COLORADO COLLEGE MEN GET POSITIONS ABROAD.

Arthur E. Harper and Leo C. Lake, Class of 1908, Sign Three-Year Contracts.

Arthur E. Harper and Leo C. Lake, graduates of Colorado College, will leave the United States within the next two weeks for Turkey, where they go as teachers of English in two of the leading schools in the sultan's empire.

Harper is now visiting at his home in New Jersey, having left Colorado Springs last month. Lake left last night and will spend a few days at his home in Wichita, Kan., after which he will go by way of Chicago and Boston to New York, where he will join his classmate for the journey across the ocean. Harper has an appointment at Harpoot, while Lake is bound for Marcavon, Turkey.

Both Harper and Lake are members of the class of 1908, and both were prominent in college life during their residence here. Harper was business manager of the Tiger during the last year and Lake was vice president of the Apollonian club. Both won honors in oratory. They are members of the Chi Sigma Gamma club.

The young men are under a three years' contract to remain in Turkey as teachers.

TAIT SUCCEEDS HENDERSON

Elected Clerk of Camp 7226, Modern Woodmen of America—Consul Martin Resigns.

Stephen C. Tait was last night elected clerk of Colored camp No. 7226, Modern Woodmen of America, to succeed H. C. Henderson, who has held the office for the last two and a half years, and who resigned a week ago. Mr. Tait was the victor in a spirited contest with Fred Parkhill, and after the vote the election was made unanimous. The new clerk was installed at last night's meeting and will assume his new duties at once, maintaining his office at room 1, Midland block. Mr. Henderson will continue working for the camp as a deputy.

At last night's meeting Consul A. P. Martin tendered his resignation. Action on it was deferred until the next meeting, however.

District Deputy James D. Knox and Special Deputy F. E. Valentine are organizing a new camp of the order at Monument. Application for a charter has been made.

The Colorado Springs team will go to Colorado City next Tuesday evening to assist in the adoption of the new class in the Colorado City camp.

FOUR GREEKS ARE INJURED

Hurt in a Collision in a Short Line Tunnel.

Four Greek laborers were slightly injured in a collision in a tunnel seven miles west of Colorado Springs on the Short Line yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock. The injured are: Tom Karas, James Huskuris, George Garanyatis and Louis Starm. Their injuries however, were nothing more serious than bruises and scratches.

The men were riding on a work car and had just entered the tunnel when an eastbound freight train, which they knew to be approaching came upon them. It bumped into the work car and the four laborers jumped to the ground.

The injured men were brought to this city and taken to St. Francis hospital, where they were examined and their injuries dressed by Dr. W. A. Campbell.

NEW RESERVOIR SITES

CITY LEASES PROPERTY ON NORTH SLOPE OF PEAK.

Also Secures Option for $15,000 and May Buy, Thus Extending Water System.

The city of Colorado Springs has taken a lease from Alexander F. Crowe on four reservoir sites, aggregating 654 acres, lying on the north slope of Pikes Peak, on Crystal, Catamount and Cascade creeks, near Green Mountain Falls. About 1400 acres of the property is in El Paso county and the remainder extends over the line into Teller county. The annual rental is placed at $225 and the lease expires December 31, 1908. According to an option also secured by the city, it may purchase the property for $15,000 at any time before December 31, 1908. The lease, option and notice of the placing of the warranty deeds to the property in escrow, were filed with the county clerk yesterday.

Mayor D. N. Heizer declares the move a precautionary one, providing for a possible extension of the city water system to the north slope of the Peak.

The lease was signed by the Mayor and Clerk E. C. F. Whitaker, in behalf of the city, and by Crowe as the owner. The warranty deeds are in escrow in the First National bank of this city.

Report Considered.

The Mayor, city attorney and Water Superintendent R. J. Verner met with the members of the City Council yesterday and discussed the report of the citizens' committee. The report will be taken up every day until the aldermen, as a committee of the whole, report to the Council as a body, which will probably be next Monday evening.

The aldermen want the members of the citizens' committee to submit to them the evidence on which the report is based. Since several witnesses against the officials are city employes, and their dismissal would probably follow the disclosure of their connection in the matter, the committee is reluctant to hand over the evidence. A decision will be reached shortly.

SAYS STABLE IS NUISANCE

Mrs. Taff Asks That Club Livery Be Removed From Residence District.

After vainly trying for years to have the Club stables, 1411 North Tejon street, declared a nuisance and put out of business, Mrs. Minnie Taff, wife of former President G. A. Taff of the Pikes Peak Hydro-Electric company, living at 1415 North Tejon street, filed a complaint against Proprietor W. G. Blackshere in the district court yesterday. The plaintiff asks that the stables be removed and that she be awarded $2,000 damages.

The complaint alleges that the barn is not only constructed, but conducted contrary to the city ordinances and that she, in common with many other residents in that vicinity, has repeatedly complained of the obscene language, foul odors and other nuisances resulting from the existence of the stable. The livery stable was originally built "with intent to injure, annoy and harass" plaintiff, according to her complaint.

INJURED BY FREIGHT ENGINE

Foreman of Rock Island Shops at Roswell May Die as Result of Accident.

Crossing in front of a moving freight engine at Roswell, William Milbert, foreman of the shops of the Rock Island railroad at that place, was thrown with terrific force against the coal chutes, sustaining serious injuries about the head, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. He was conscious up to a late hour last night and may die.

The injured man was removed in the ambulance to St. Francis hospital and attended by Doctor D. I. Christopher. He suffered concussion, and probably compression of the brain, in addition to severe scalp wounds.

Milbert is about 25 years old and is married. He lives at 508 First street, Roswell.

HUGHES PROPERTY IS SOLD

Dr. Smith Sells Tejon Street Block Through Agency of C. P. Bennett.

Another important deal in business property was closed yesterday when the Hughes block, 117 and 119 South Tejon street, changed hands. The transaction was made through Charles P. Bennett and is the third large sale of business property south of Pikes Peak avenue within the last month. While the name of the purchaser or the purchase price are not made public, the consideration is understood to have been in the neighborhood of $35,000.

The property was sold by Dr. C. E. Smith to one of the conservative business men of Colorado Springs, who has lived here for the last 20 years and has carefully watched the growth of the town, through all of its vicissitudes. This is one of the best evidences of faith in the permanency of the city. The purchase is made as an investment.

The Hughes block covers a lot 30 by 85 feet, and is a three-story brick building with basement. The ground floor and the basement have been occupied by Dr. Smith's drug store, and the two upper stories by the St. Charles rooming house. No change will be made as regards the tenants, and no improvements are contemplated in the building, which, built in 1890, is in first-class condition, having recently been repaired and rewired.

NO FEVER IN SOUTH

ITS DAY PAST, SAYS MAYOR OF NEW ORLEANS.

Louisiana Delegates to Democratic Convention Are Visiting Colorado Springs.

Martin Behrman, mayor of New Orleans and chairman of the Louisiana delegation to the national Democratic convention at Denver reached the city yesterday and is registered at the Alamo. Accompanying him are L. S. Behrman, John Ewing, Alex Pujal, John A. Barret and L. H. Marrero, all of whom were delegates to the convention.

The trip is the first to state for most of the party and all are enthusiastic over what they have seen. Mayor Behrman expressed himself as delighted with Colorado. He expects to remain in the Pikes Peak region the remainder of the week.

One of the most interesting statements made by the mayor in an interview was concerning the manner in which New Orleans proposes to handle the West End, its chief resort for visitors and one that is famous the world over.

A Large Enterprise.

For years the traction company of New Orleans held a lease on the West End property. For a time there was some doubt as to the title to the property, but it was finally declared to belong to the city. When the traction company lease expired, the city decided to improve the property, using the revenue derived from leases for this purpose. Some idea of the magnitude of these improvements can be had from the statement in the advertisements for bids that no less sum than $250,000 will be considered, all of this money and all other revenue accruing from the lease of the property to be expended upon it. The city does not propose to make a penny, but expects to derive its benefit exclusively from having a resort of national fame.

In talking about his home city Mayor Behrman grew enthusiastic over its rapid strides within the last few years and its plans for the future.

No More Yellow Fever.

"We will never have yellow fever again," he said, "because we went after it in the right way and now know how to handle it. We are rapidly getting toward the municipal ownership of our public utilities and have just arranged for an absolutely pure water supply, furnished by the city. We will give everybody filtered Mississippi water in any quantity wanted at cheap rates. We are building a belt line along the wharves to facilitate and cheapen the handling of freight and through our newly-installed pumping sewer system we can now dig cellars under our buildings."

Several other members of the Louisiana delegation are expected to reach the city today from Denver and will spend several days enjoying the scenery in this region.

THE BUTTERFLY BLOUSE.

Separate blouses are worn in every imaginable transparency, but none are daintier than those of white net, trimmed with embroidery panels, bands and frillings of both fine and coarse lace. The treatment of the fronts and backs of such blouses is a matter of whatever style may most become the individual figure. In most instances sleeves are short and made fluffy with lace trimmings. Many of them are set under a simulated butterfly armsize like that which distinguished the street coats of early spring.

HOLDS NO ONE RESPONSIBLE

Coroner's Jury Has Inquest Over Body of Cortella.

The coroner's jury in the case of Eugene Cortella, who was killed by coming in contact with a live electric wire last Monday afternoon, yesterday brought in the following verdict:

"We find from evidence that Eugene Cortella came to his death by coming in contact with a live wire leased from the Colorado Springs and Interurban railway by the Colorado Springs Electric Light and Power company; also that said wire was down and had been in a dangerous position for 46 hours."

Attorneys for relatives of the dead man believe that the verdict gives good ground for a damage suit.

The members of the jury were A. E. Hart, Fred F. Horn, C. A. McLain, J. M. Reilly, George Decker and M. E. Stover.

FRANCK IS IN JAIL HERE

Domestic Trouble of Denver Couple Being Aired.

The domestic troubles of Gus B. Franck, a Denver saloonkeeper, and his wife, Mattie Franck, which have been aired in that city recently, have been transferred to the district court of Colorado Springs. Franck filed suit in that court for divorce, alleging infidelity, and sought an equitable division of their property, held in his wife's name. This consists of Houston, Texas, real estate, and $5,000 worth of diamonds.

The wife filed an answer and cross-complaint for divorce, charging infidelity, habitual drunkenness, desertion and nonsupport. She claimed that her property had been mortgaged to pay her husband's debts, and asked for a writ of ne exeat to prevent his leaving the state, and spending the cash proceeds of the sale of his Denver property.

Franck was arrested on a writ of ne exeat issued by Judge W. S. Morris, and was placed in the county jail here, in default of bond in the sum of $2,000. The couple have three children. They were married in Galveston, Texas, May 22, 1889.

Owing to the floods that damaged the railroads and the milling plants in the Butte district, the June output of the Butte mines will likely be one-third less than it was during May.

Even when some fellows land in jail they expect their friends to help them out.

NEWS OF THE LOCAL COURTS

Another chapter in the long-drawn-out Campbell-Hitchcock controversy over stock of the Manitou Bathing company was added yesterday, when Charles B. Campbell started suit in the district court against B. B. Creighton, Samuel H. Kinsley, D. N. Hitchcock, Dean Hitchcock, Jean Stauffer and the Manitou Bathing company. The plaintiff asks $40,000 damages for alleged fraud practiced against him, and that a transfer of 28,000 shares of company stock from Dean Hitchcock to B. B. Creighton be declared void, and the shares made treasury stock. Campbell also requests that the defendants be enjoined from paying any more claims and that he be given a lien on the 28,000 shares of stock.

The chicken squabble between D. W. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. John Deering, which ended in the discharge of the Deerings in police court on a charge of malicious mischief several days ago, resulted in a typical neighbor's quarrel in which a hose, a rock, foul language and a gun are said to have figured. The two families live in adjoining houses, and it is claimed that Deering called Moore a vile name, Moore retaliating by turning the hose on Deering. Not to be outdone, Deering heaved a rock at Moore and then drew out a revolver, according to Moore's charge of assault in Justice O. R. Dunnington's court yesterday. The justice took the case under advisement.

Elizabeth Gaines, colored, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing linen from the Victor rooming house, in Justice W. N. Ruby's court yesterday. She made good the amount of the theft and was left off with a fine of $1 and costs.

Chief of Police W. S. Reynolds has been requested by H. E. Lennon of the Christian home of Council Bluffs, Ia., to look out for relatives of Guy Lashley, a 12-year-old boy who recently arrived in Council Bluffs. The boy told Lennon that he worked as a dishwasher at the Antlers hotel here.

Logan from boyhood up, bronzes, feet under the average yield of an ections all over the United States at the time of his death, and resolutions on the death of his son, Major John A. Logan, Jr., Thirty-third United States Volunteers, who was killed on November 11, 1902, while leading a charge against Aguinaldo's intrenched army in the Philippines.

What the Press Agents Say

MISS LOLOA MILTON.

Miss Loloa Milton, who is delighting the audiences at the Empire this week, with her singing and dancing turn, had been similarly delighted, her original sketch, owing to the critical illness of her father, now in a Denver hospital. She is starred in a vaudeville attraction entitled, "That Girl," and is supported by her father and mother. Some few days ago Miss Milton's father was taken dangerously ill and removed to the hospital, his wife accompanying him, leaving the daughter to fill the contracted time alone. Miss Milton maintains a brave front, going through her comedy lines with seemingly great pleasure, while in reality her heart is filled with sadness and sorrow. Her father has undergone an operation and the prospects are that it will be a successful one, yet his condition is yet most serious. Miss Milton deserves great credit for going through her act in such a vivacious manner—it is short of wonderful when one considers that she is working with an almost broken heart. She is certainly pleasing the audiences of the Empire this week, even though she is unable to present the whole act—giving only the best parts of the sketch.

MISS LOLA MILTON,
At The Empire Theater.

A FINE PROGRAM AT FAIRYLAND

Another interesting picture is being presented at Fairyland which is in fact a lesson picture, for it shows how temptation is thrown in the way of little children. In this picture a little girl is seen to steal a few pennies to pay her way into a moving picture show. The picture she is so anxious to see is entitled, "Honesty Is Best Policy." (Here is a moving picture in a moving picture.) she is very much interested as the picture proceeds and she sees what becomes of little girls who steal. She can stand it no longer and runs out of the theater. This is a splendid picture and one that will do any child good to see. "The Indian's Gratitude," is a wonderful picture taken in Colorado. "John's New Suit," is a comedy picture of great merit. Don't fail to hear Jack Begley sing the beautiful song, "Blue Eyes." A new musical program by Professor Lewis.

ZOO IS IDEAL PLEASURE PARK

Nowhere in the whole country is there an amusement park similar to Alderman J. J. Coughlin's Zoological park, on Cheyenne creek. Its natural beauty alone is enough to make it a most popular resort with tourists and with the majority of the residents of the city. Manager Coughlin has endeavored to preserve its rustic beauty, and in many instances has improved it by a system of walks and drives extending through the grounds.

Before the summer season is far advanced, numerous flower beds will be lending their aid in making the park more beautiful. Parts of the park are being put into blue grass. All of the amusements are practically new, and are put up in such a way that they are entirely safe. The fact that serious accidents have never happened at the Zoo is a great factor in itself, and shows the precautions taken by the management.

WILL GIVE STREET PARADE.

Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth Revives Old Feature.

When the Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth visits Colorado Springs on Thursday, July 30, it will be with the street parade re-established after four years omission. It will be a parade vastly superior to any ever given in America, being entirely the origination and execution of European artists, designers and property builders.

It is the policy of the management never to repeat itself, and some seasons ago when it seemed it had exhibited every thing new under the sun, the parade was dropped out until such time as more original ideas might be created and new wonders sought out from remote lands. For two years day and night artists, artisans, designers and property builders have been toiling at the foreign work shops of the circus, Stock on Trent, England, building the parade which this season is delighting the public.

Not in its slightest detail does this parade resemble anything ever seen on the streets before. It fairly glistens with newness, and the million dollars invested in it shows itself in gorgeous floats of burnished gold made by Oriental workmen, tapestry and throne rugs from Persia and Turkey, costumes made in France, lace, scarfs flags and banners from Chinese looms, mythological statuary from Italian studios, band and orchestra wagons of bronze and animal dens built in Germany. War engines of savage lands and wealthy nations, the graven images and idols of heathen tribes, the crude vehicles of barbarian chieftains and the carriages of state of potentates are displayed.

Every type of man is seen in his native dress and a great menagerie of recently found animals is shown in open cages. The parade is three times the length of former street displays and represents ten times the outlay in money.

The performance, as well, has undergone its changes, having been bettered by the addition of recent new acts which have appeared in Europe and Asia. The long bill begins with a spectacle more ornate and interesting than those of the past and employs a cast of more than 1,000 persons.

As a fitting climatic finish to such an excellent program something new in the way of sensations is introduced under the name of "Autos That Pass in the Air." It is more than a thriller; it is a "paralyzer." The act is just what the name says—the passing of two automobiles high in the air. The cars are shot down a steep incline and projected into space by a sharp upward terminal of the track. The machine which was in the rear at the start completely encircles the other, landing directly in front of it on a ground platform. The autos are managed by two mere girls.

The act gives the most intense suspense and thrilling interest. It has no precedent to compare it with. It requires all the courage of an audience to watch the act.

HELD FOR STEALING HORSE

A. C. Isaacs Charged With Serious Offense by Chicago Man.

A. C. Isaacs, an employe of the Monument Valley Coal company, was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out in Justice W. N. Ruby's court by P. F. Hogan of Chicago, charging him with larceny as bailee in connection with a horse and buggy left in his care by the complainant, which the defendant is claimed to have sold without making satisfactory settlement with the owner. His case was set for trial today, and he was released on bond of $700.

Hogan is sergeant of detectives in Chicago, and has been connected with the police and detective department of that city for the last 20 years. He visits in Colorado Springs every summer, and last year left a horse and buggy in care of Isaacs to sell for him. He wrote three times to Isaacs regarding the property without receiving a reply, and on his arrival here this year found a mail carrier driving the horse. The animal had been sold for $35, Isaacs pocketing the money, according to Hogan.

On demanding a settlement, Isaacs is claimed to have finally agreed to pay $50 for the horse and buggy, but later "backed out" and offered only the horse and delapidated buggy to its rightful owner. Isaacs is well known here.

CIRCUS DELIGHTS THOUSANDS

Two Large Audiences Enjoy Hagenbeck and Wallace Shows.

Two large audiences were thoroughly delighted with the Hagenbeck and Wallace show yesterday.

The occasion marks the first visit of the combined shows to Colorado Springs and it furnished a pleasing surprise in that the general impression seemed to prevail that the circus was not so large or of so great a variety as similar attractions that have visited the city annually.

For the children the numerous clowns provide the greatest fun, though the trained animals furnish a close second. The menagerie is the largest and finest that has been seen here for some time.

Among the distinctive and startling acts are The Flying Fishers, the Japanese high wire artists, the Risley acrobats and several other European novelties that are being seen in this country for the first time. Altogether the show is great and well merited the large patronage.

W. N. Merrick, the veteran bandmaster, conductor of the Hagenbeck and Wallace circus band, hails from Zanesville, O., and although that city comes last when population is given alphabetically, he thinks it comes first when it comes to turning out prominent people. Mr. Merrick has been a circus musician for 39 years and leader of a circus band for 27 years. He is only one of a score of Zanesville boys who have come into prominence in the amusement world. Merrick is an enthusiastic Elk and is proud of the fact that Ruth L. Holland of this city is a Zanesville product. Consequently he was in the best of humor when the news came that Mr. Holland had been made grand exalted ruler of the B. P. O. E. "Boyhood associations will tell," said the bandmaster. "Zanesville boys of a decade or two ago came to the conclusion that national prominence was easier secured than was generally thought and one by one are forging to the front."

A lady presented a complimentary ticket to the Wallace show and sought admission to the Hagenbeck and Wallace circus last night. The ticket had been issued for admittance at Pueblo twelve years ago—the only time the Wallace show had ever been in Colorado until it came with the Hagenbeck show as an added attraction. The holder of the ticket was the wife of a railroader and had preserved the complimentary more as a souvenir than with the thought that it would ever be recognized for admission.

Otto Floto, sporting editor of the Denver Post and part owner of the Sells-Floto circus, came down yesterday to see the Hagenbeck and Wallace circus. He was accompanied by Mrs. Floto who was formerly known as Kitty Krugle, and until her retirement from the circus ring was considered one of America's best riders.

OPEN SECRETS.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken the many users of his medicines into his full confidence. Thus too he has absolutely and completely removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them REMEDIES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

Dr Pierce's medicines are now in a class all by themselves—being absolutely and in every sense Non-secret.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this booklet it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, and with the use of specially designed chemical apparatus, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health.

The exact proportion of the several ingredients used in the medicine, as well as the working formula and peculiar processes, apparatus and appliances employed in their manufacture, are withheld from publicity that Dr. Pierce's proprietary rights may not be infringed and trespassed upon by unprincipled imitators and those who may be piratically inclined.

Dr. John Fyfe, of Saugatuck, Conn., Editor of the Department of Therapeutics, in THE ECLECTIC REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) one of the chief ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription: "A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator and always favors a condition which makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system, cannot fail to be of great usefulness and of the utmost importance to the general practitioner of medicine."

"Helonias more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent."

"The following are among the leading indications for Helonias: Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia, ("flooding") due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhea, arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and an anemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensation in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is rich in all the medical properties of Unicorn root, or Helonias.

A WOMAN SCULPTOR

Wonderful Harriet Hosmer and Her Famous Friends.

From the Boston Herald.

"She's the greatest little woman that New England ever produced," quietly murmured a small, gray-haired old gentleman who sat in the farthest corner of the parlor at the funeral of Miss Harriet Hosmer, in her old home, at Watertown, recently.

He couldn't have been thinking merely of her wonderful work, the statues she had wrought, ranging all the way from majestic Zenobia to the tricksiest Puck ever dreamed of since Shakespeare dreamed him first. For mere appreciation of artistic merit doesn't make one's voice break quaveringly and one's eyes grow dim. The voice of the little old gentleman was far from steady. His gloves wiped misty spectacles continually.

Harriet Hosmer was something more than a brilliant woman, something rarer than a great sculptor; she was a friend par excellence to those she cared for, and the loss of the bonne camrade was even more deeply mourned than the death of the great artist.

Brave and bright and delightfully original she was always. She wasn't a bit the typical infant phenomenon; indeed, as a child she was nothing in the world but a dear little tomboy, who could ride and shoot and swim and fish and boat quite as well as any boy in the whole town—and who was never so happy as when she was doing one or more of these things. The athletic girl hadn't come into her own then, and it isn't hard to imagine how shocked the good Watertown ladies were at such proceedings.

"Hattie" didn't care. She quite forgot carping tongues in the joy of riding down the wind on her trim black saddle horse or dreaming along the banks of the Charles near her home.

It was at school in Lenox that Miss Hosmer made the first of her long series of famous friends. Mrs. Fannie Kemble was staying near the school and became deeply interested in the 16-year-old girl, with her curly brown hair, even then clipped short like a boy's; her splendidly trained muscles and her frankly irresistible smile.

"That child is charming" she declared, and Harriet herself was enchanted with the beautiful actress. To her, perhaps, before anyone else, the girl confided her dreams of the future. For even then she had planned to be a sculptor.

After she had left school she studied in Boston with Mr. Stephenson for a while, and then went to take a course in anatomy at the St. Louis Medical college. While there she visited the Dakota Indians and smoked the pipe of peace with their chief.

After her return from St. Louis she did her first original work in marble. It was in the square "studio" which her father had built for her in the corner of the big dooryard. The work is the head of a young girl, and is called "Hesper," and it is really remarkable for her first attempt. All the quiet evening dreams by the river seem gathered into the stillness of the face. Not the least remarkable thing about it is the fact that Miss Hosmer herself chipped all the marble, instead of employing a workman to copy her plaster conception, as is usually done.

"Now, I'm ready for Rome," she said, after she had finished.

So the pilgrim fared the sea to her City Beautiful, and in due season the reward of all faithful pilgrims came to her. First of all, John Gibson became her teacher, and rapturously she wrote home: "The dearest wish of my heart is accomplished."

She lived in a room once occupied by Canova, and naively expressed the hope "that some of his genius may be left there for me."

It was soon apparent that she possessed plenty of genius of her own, and splendid commissions came to her.

The "Puck," already spoken of, was so successful that the prince of Wales himself ordered a copy. Not less delightful is the "Sleeping Faun," where even sleep cannot take out of the face of the impish creature his characteristic expression of droll deviltry. It was as if Miss Hosmer were able to reincarnate in her "Puck" and "Faun" the spirit of her own nature-loving romping childhood.

The child had now became a woman, and one finds only tender, womanly thoughts and feelings in the "Beatrice Cenci" and the "Zenobia."

Not the least remarkable of her work are the circular panels she designed for the gates of Ashbridge Hall, in England, owned by Lord Brownlow. In the delicately-rounded forms one sees the perfection of fresh treatment always attributed to Miss Hosmer by her critics. The design for the gate in question was never altogether finished, and the present location of the panels is uncertain. They were probably given to Lady Ashburton of England.

Personal honors, too, were heaped upon her; decorations from ruling princes, and jewels from English ladies. Perhaps best of all were the spontaneous instance of recognition by masters of her craft.

The czar of Russia presented her with a wonderful scarf, in the middle of which blazed a huge diamond; Lady Ashburton, her dearest friend in England, gave her a beautiful diamond encrusted heart. She cared very little for the personal glory of such distinctions, and for years most of them have been in the London vaults of her friend, J. Pierpont Morgan, where, likewise, is her will, if she left one.

The loveliest part of her life must have been the wonderful people she knew. For to her Thackeray and Carlyle and Hawthorne and the Brownings weren't just names; they were actual living, loving persons, whom she had dined with and talked to and enjoyed as one enjoys one's dearest friends.

Garibaldi perhaps told her of his plans for free Italy. She may have been in Mr. Story's studio when Hawthorne conceived the idea of "The Marble Faun." She saw little Marion Crawford before he was old enough to read, much less write, stories. Everywhere, she was welcomed for her conversation and her vivid personal charm. She even played with the Brownings in their Florentine villa, and made a cast, afterward put into bronze, of the clasped hands of Browning and his wife.

LIKENESS OF CHARLEY UNTO BILLY

From the Washington Evening Star.

This isn't the first time that Mr. Hanford has been taken for Mr. Bryan—and a couple of times it was by great crowds of the followers of the peerless at that. On one occasion he was playing a one-night stand, or was booked to do so that night—this being in the afternoon—and in roaming around the not overly large confines of the place, came upon a big tent with a crowd streaming in. Hardly had he hove in sight when he was surrounded by a delegation of perspiring but delighted citizens, who "Mr. Bryaned" him until, dropping to the mistake and being possessed of a comprehensive funny bone and a decided liking for practical jokes, he decided to fall in with the mistake and, if necessary, push it along. So, after he had shaken hands some steen hundreds of times, he was led to the platform and in due course of time introduced.

The crowd went wild. They cheered and howled and threw their hats in the air and generally behaved something scandalous. But it didn't rattle the Hon. Charles-Hanford-William-Jennings-Bryan a little bit. He gets the glad hand pretty nearly every night in his own right. So when the last ripples of enthusiasm had died away he stepped to the front, slushed down a glass of spring water to clear his whistle and started in.

Out in that section of the country they do say as how Billy Bryan never made a better speech. Mr. Hanford-Bryan trifled with politics some, in spots, but mostly it was glittering generalities and glittering generalities was what the crowd seemed to want. He trampled upon octopii, he assassinated railroad corporations, he restored per capita wealth to the poor and downtrodden, and he everlastingly drew rings around the initiative and referendum. And when he wound up with a pyrotechnic peroration that nearly blew the tent from its guy ropes and brought tears to the eyes of some horny-handed sons of toil who hadn't wept before in thirty years, he bowed himself back to his seat, only to stand up a minute later to receive the thanks of his auditors, expressed by a rising vote.

William Jennings Bryan, who had been forced to forego his date at the little town in question by reason of a wreck, washout or other railroad catastrophe on the line, nearly had a spasm the next day when he read about the wonderful speech he had made and the ovation he had received.

Nowadays he and Mr. Hanford are the best of friends, and they get a lot of mutual enjoyment out of the striking resemblance. I wish to heaven this was an illustrated column, just so I could print photographs of the two, side by side.

Somebody suggested the other day that as the summer time is Mr. Hanford's off season, that William Jennings Bryan, after his inevitable nomination at Denver, couldn't possibly do better than employ the actor to impersonate him during the campaign. In that way the peerless could cover twice as much ground, make twice as many stump speeches and make twice as many people happy.

BECOMES NEW WOMAN AT 97

Lynn (Mass.) Dispatch to Philadelphia Record.

Mary Smith, of Lynn, who celebrated her 97th birthday May 24, has surprised her friends by growing a new head of hair. For 50 years Mrs. Smith's hair has been as white as snow. About a year ago it began to come out, and in a little while she was bald. Now the new hair, thick, black and curly, is coming in, and there promises to be a luxuriant growth.

About 20 years ago Mrs. Smith lost her last tooth. Since then she has worn false teeth. Now, with the growing of the new hair, she is cutting new teeth. Four front teeth already have appeared, and she is now cutting two molars.

Mrs. Smith is the widow of a former mayor of Lynn and is in excellent health.

A PROSPERITY SYMPTOM.

New York Cor. Philadelphia Press.

One of the New York automobile manufacturers, whose plant is on the Hudson, not far from New York city, estimated early in January that his entire output for this year would not exceed 4,000 motor cars. He made contracts for material sufficient for that number of cars. Late in May he perceived that his estimate was happily incorrect, and in June the orders that came almost overwhelmed him.

He found on the 1st of July that these orders would compel him to manufacture as rapidly as possible some 8,000 machines, and is now persuaded that his manufactory will be operated to its capacity in the year 1908. Payments are quick and sure, so that the purchasing power of this one manufactory has compelled several manufacturing plants to resume work on full time.

Pongee makes the nicest dust coats for those living in the suburbs, who find such a wrap indispensable.

Tobacco brown ties, exactly matching the linen suits that were so popular with women last summer, are being worn by men.

CASTRO'S PALACE OF STEEL.

From the London M. A. P.

President Castro lives in what is probably the most remarkable dwelling place of any modern ruler. It stands within a park at Caracas and is built almost entirely of steel. The outer walls are covered with a kind of "soft stone," so, to look at, there is nothing peculiar about the place; but it is said to be the strongest house in the world, and it will resist the heaviest gunfire.

The idea of a steel "palace" occurred to the president after he had had experience of one or two earthquakes. One night he was awakened by an earth tremor, and in his fright he jumped out of a window and broke his leg. After that he decided that bricks and mortar were not safe, hence the reason for his metal abode.

RETURNING FROM THE CONVENTION

From the Washington Evening Star.

A Republican member of congress, passing through Washington on his way from the Chicago convention to somewhere else, ate a grape or something that disagreed with him, and had trouble with his insides. He sent for a doctor forthwith.

"Doctor," said he, as the physician entered the room, "I'm very sick. I'm awful sick. I think I'm going to die. I was on my way home from the Chicago convention and—"

But there he stopped, for the physician, who had been reaching for his pulse with a concerned expression, unlimbered himself, sat down, lugged out his fountain pen and pad of prescription blanks and began to write at the rate of a mile a minute. There was silence for awhile, then the doctor jumped up, threw the prescriptions he had written on the bed and prepared to depart.

"I'll look in tomorrow," he said, "and I guess you'll be all right. Don't let yourself get nervous, and if you do feel jumpy, take an extra dose of prescription number three—it's chock full of bromides."

"But," began the patient, "how the devil do you—"

"Never mind, never mind," said the doctor soothingly. "That'll be all right. Take it easy and go slow. You're the eighteenth from the Chicago convention wreck I've attended during the past week."

HONORS FOR JEWISH STUDENT

This year's "senior wranglership" at the University of Cambridge, England, gives great honors to a young Russian Jew. The result of the "Mathematical Tripos" shows that Selig Brodetsky, whose home is in the East End of London, and whose father sought an asylum in England from Russian oppression, has been bracketed with Mr. Ibbotson, scholar of Pembroke, for the coveted British blue ribbon of mathematics. This is the first time that the honor has been won by a student who is not a British subject. In 1890, and again in 1906, however, an Indian student was bracketed first.

THE CHARLEMAGNE ROSE TREE

From the London Globe.

The most venerable rose tree in existence is said to bloom against the ancient church of Hildesheim in Germany. Notwithstanding the many parties which at different times have been in the ascendency, they all seem to have respected and tended the rose tree, which it is said was planted by Charlemagne. The trunk is now almost as big as a man's body. There are five principal limbs trained against the church, the tree being protected by iron railings inclosing an area of about 26 square feet. The rude German soldiers in early ages tended the tree, Catholics and Protestants, in turn masters of the town, drained the ground, the soldiers of Turenne fastened up the branches with clamps and those of Napoleon, a century and a half later, erected the railings.

DRY CLEANED.

From the Washington Star.

I was scanning the New Willard register the other evening while the night clerk was chatting with a friend.

"Say," said he, "see that bug over there? He's from Oklahoma. That must be a grand state. He blew in this evening, registered and asked for a room."

"Room with bath?" says I.

"Naw," says he in reply. "I'm only going to stay three days, and I ain't got no call to do general washing. Make it a window instead."

I took a good look at the gentleman from Oklahoma. I'm not certain, but I think he had been dry cleaned. Anyhow, he looked like gasoline smells.

THE LATEST RAREBIT DREAM

Brooklyn Letter in New York Herald.

The writer had a dream last night in which he saw our fleet of warships anchored in a large land-locked harbor surrounded by hills. Everything seemed calm and peaceful. The scene then changed and it was night. I seemed to be able to look beneath the waters, and saw several submarines about to attack the fleet. Frequent explosions now took place amid great confusion. All the ships seemed to be sinking.

It may be superstitious, but I believe in dreams. If you can do so, through the medium of your journal, try to get the authorities to allow only one or two of the battleships at a time to enter any harbor while in Japanese waters. I have lived ten years in the Orient, and have little faith in any of its people.

So pretty are the juvenile adaptations of present modes, that the most of us wish that, like Peter Pan, we had never grown up. One charming little dress which is designed for a girl of from three to six is of blue Scotch gingham trimmed with bordered bands and blue ribbon. The kimona sleeves are tucked horizontally after the fashion of the grown-ups, and the plain front breadth reasserts the popularity of the panel.

THURSDAY, JULY 16, 1908.

FOR A WATER COMMISSION.

TWO years ago this month a joint committee composed of members of the Chamber of Commerce, Real Estate Exchange and Merchants Association, presented to the City Council a petition asking it to call a charter convention. This petition was signed by considerably more than the 5 per cent of the voters, required by law, and the Council thereupon called a special election to decide the question of whether or not a charter convention should be called. Then ensued a vigorous campaign of education, designed to acquaint the public with the needs and conditions which made such a movement desirable. The effort to have the convention called was defeated at the election, owing to popular misunderstanding based on gross misrepresentation.

One of the principal reasons—indeed the most important reason of all—for wanting a charter for Colorado Springs was the necessity of providing a safer and more efficient method of administering the water system. We have a splendid property which has cost more than a million and a half, and which could be readily sold, probably for twice that sum, if the people wanted to sell it—which they don't. Yet its entire management and control is vested in a committee of three members of the Council, none of whom is chosen because of special fitness. Each of these men is paid $33 a month for his services as alderman, and in return he is expected to give a part of his time to various other municipal affairs as well as to those of the water system.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPECTED.

Of course it is ridiculous to expect efficiency under these conditions. The Water Committee is always a purely political board, and rarely does it have even one member who takes an active, sincere interest in the water system, sufficient to visit it frequently, study its needs and organization, and apply himself earnestly to a proper administration of its affairs. The committee is supplemented by a Water Superintendent, also appointed because of political pull, and these together have charge of a property worth millions and on which nearly 50,000 people are absolutely dependent for one of the necessities of life—a property which, if privately owned, would be administered by a board of shrewd business men assisted by capable experts.

There is no use tearing our hair over the present condition of the water system. It is just what was to be expected, and the only wonder is that it didn't happen long ago. It is the logical result of a method of administration which puts ignorance, incompetency and graft in the places that ought to be filled by technical ability, business sense and honesty. We don't propose to waste very much space criticising the city administration, and more particularly the Council, for it has done only what was to be expected of it. The people put it there at a time when they had a chance to put in far better men; now let them think it over and see whether they feel like saying, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

The point we wish to emphasize is that the fault is primarily with the method, or system of administration, rather than with the administrators themselves. To employ one of our Honorable Mayor's pet aphorisms, "You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear;" neither can you expect a handful of small-bore politicians whose knowledge of the water system is limited to the obvious fact that water will run down hill, to manage a three-million-dollar property as honestly and efficiently as a commission of capable business men, advised by a competent engineer, would do.

Mr. Taxpayer: How many more Seven Lakes purchase deals will you permit to be made; how many more costly dams and reservoirs will you permit to be ruined by graft; how many more water famines such as the present one will you endure, before deciding to put an end to the methods which cause them—in other words, before adopting a city charter and providing for a permanent water commission?

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS.

THE killing of a dog by a grounded live wire ought to be a sufficient reminder that it is time to remove the wire, but the Street Railway Company doesn't seem to think so. It left the wire where it was, and the next day a man was killed by it. The coroner's jury finds that the wire "was down and had been in a dangerous position for 48 hours."

This is a plain case of criminal carelessness of a kind that ought to be severely punished. As an instrument of death a live wire dangling near the ground is in a class by itself, and it seems strange that one could have remained in this dangerous position so long without the fact being known. The matter ought to be thoroughly investigated and the responsible person punished.

"Any man who is good enough to be Vice President is good enough to share the White House with me," says Mr. Bryan, referring his running mate's asserted inability to keep up the Vice-Presidential establishment in proper style—in case he is elected. How's that for a three-in-a-bed proposition? Mr. Bryan is feeling so good just now that he probably would be willing to promise almost anything, but when it comes to agreeing to take another family under the White House roof he is a little bit rash. The White House isn't a very big building; indeed it was almost more than President Roosevelt could do to find room in it for his family, which, however, is just twice as big as Mr. Bryan's. Even since the building of the executive office addition so much space is taken up by public uses that not much is left for the President's family. If Mr. Bryan is elected, and really wants to help Mr. Kern, he might better give him the money to pay house rent elsewhere, otherwise somebody might have to sleep on the roof.

So Judge Parker is to take the stump for Bryan, is he? If he does it in the same way that Bryan stumped for him four years ago the outcome ought to give him as much satisfaction as Bryan derived from the returns the day after the last election.

SWINDLING A CRIME.

From the Omaha Bee.

Who denies that the world is growing better? A man has been sentenced to seven years in prison at Goldfield, Nev., for selling fake mining stock. Life is going to lose some of its attractiveness in the west if it is made a crime to fleece a tenderfoot by the mining stock game.

FOURTH'S DEATH ROLL.

From the Springfield Republican.

The Fourth's death roll is yet to be fully made up. It waits upon the deadly tetanus, which does not pass in its final returns for several days. But it is already quite a long roll—half a dozen or more deaths in this state alone, to say nothing of the hundreds injured. The country has an eye on this matter as never before, and the day of permitting rowdyism to indulge itself in the guise of patriotism is fast passing. It is taking a great slaughter of young lives to bring about safe and sane methods of celebration, but they are bound to be established and to the exclusion of other methods.

"DIDN'T MEAN TO DO IT."

From the Baltimore Sun.

In the good old summer time there seems to be a mania among certain citizens to put human life in jeopardy. The boat-rocking maniac is a historic character, but he has been to some extent driven by an indignant public from the business of drowning people. The man who playfully presents a gun at his friends under the delusion that it is unloaded is like the poor, always with us, and there seems to be no escape. Another dangerous creature who should be locked up is the fellow who goes about armed with a rifle or pistol which he shoots at random into the air, regardless of the fact that a bullet so shot must return to the earth somewhere. If a human being should happen to occupy the spot where the bullet is to strike, of course that human being must suffer. But this fact does not deter the gentleman who is amusing himself in this sprightly manner.

THE HOWLING RECORD.

From the New York Herald.

The republicans in convention at Chicago broke the howling record by cheering and cheering and demonstrating 48 minutes for President Roosevelt. At Denver the Democrats smashed this record into smithereens by "whooping it up" for an hour and 28 minutes. These organized demonstrations by which the excitable portion of a vast crowd is worked up into a hysterical frenzy are one of the most deplorable features of our mob national conventions. It is preposterous that delegates should be allowed to perform in such a way at a time when business of the highest importance should sit as in a circus with 10,000 spectators. The extreme to which the "demonstration" was carried and in which women played a conspicuous part should hasten the abolition of the present spectacular convention methods and the institution of gatherings more worthy of their important office and the dignity of this great republic.

ANOTHER START FOR THE POLE.

From the Baltimore American.

For the ninth time Commodore Peary starts on a hunt for the north pole. There will be a universal admiration for his courage and perseverance, but there is no longer any great degree of general interest manifested in polar expeditions. Even the purely scientific interest in these expeditions is not so lively as it was twenty-five or thirty years ago. The scientific inquiry of the day has more regard to usefulness of results than ever before in the general history and progress of scientific investigation. It is difficult to conceive that the actual reaching of the axial point on the globe, termed "the north pole," if it is ever accomplished, will be of practical benefit to humankind. It is extremely doubtful whether the actual discovery of the pole will assist in the working out of any of the great physical problems of the earth that are yet unsolved. It will doubtless be a source of national pride to reflect, in case Peary at last succeeds, that the American flag, and not some other flag, floats from a staff planted at one of the axial extremities of this whirling globe.

Today's Horoscope

Thursday, July 16, 1908.

The chance-thrown dice will fail in random ways. Fortune smiles not on him who idly plays.

A vague configuration marks this 198th day of the year. They who trust to chance or luck in this period depend on a broken jade. Success or failure lies in man's own hand today. See to it that deliberate purpose and the power of complete understanding be behind thy attempts or undertakings or plans.

An ill day for speculation, hazard, wagers and investments based on tempting but vague promises.

In these next few days there is threatened a shattering of a high authority, making for much perplexity of councils in the nation.

An unfavorable sign stands over the far east, omening disturbances in the coming weeks.

Domestic affairs should prosper this day. Excellent sign for baking, brewing, preserving, and matters of the kitchen generally.

A favorable day to hire maids, engage in dressmaking or make changes in the household.

Trading should be good in the coming forty-eight hours.

Affairs of the heart should prosper with women whose birthdate is today. They will probably enjoy good health during the twelvemonth and may have the care of other persons' affairs.

Annoyance in business will affect the minds of men with this birthdate. Wavering decision will be their danger. They will do well if they take time for reflection, however great may be the desire to come to immediate settlement.

The aspects under which children are born this day indicate that they will be prosperous and have many friends. Boys should be trained to be resolute, else they will not do as well for themselves and will do better in the employment of others. Girls will probably develop a taste for art. They may marry young.

THE TICKET.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

I would like to suggest to the local Democratic committee that they get out these posters and put them on the billboards at once:

Throw all your big folks in the north end, you can't scare the south end.

BRAVO, BRAVO!

From the Atchison Globe.

In the sight of a dentist's chair, all men are cowards. It is related that an Atchison county farmer and his little girl entered a dentist's office, the farmer desiring to have his aching tooth extracted. At the sight of the dentist's chair, the farmer grew frightened, but rather than let on to the dentist he ordered a healthy tooth to be extracted from the mouth of his little girl. And the little girl never whimpered.

EXPERT OPINION OF THE BUG EDITOR.

From the Rockland (Mo.) Courier Gazette.

Three girls, who may have been reading the agricultural reports, brought to this office last week a currant jelly jar containing a curious looking critter that was half caterpillar and half moth, but totally unlike anything of either kind that the editor of our freak department has ever seen. Careful study convinces us that it is a carnivorisiataus downyournektus, but we have dropped the jelly dish and bug over the edge of Bicknell's wharf, so as to prevent the possibility of an argument on the subject.

DOWN WHERE THE WURZBURGER FLOWS

From the Peru (Kan.) Derrick and Oil Gazette.

It seems the flood is over and the Kaw and Missouri rivers have went down so there is no longer any danger apprehended. Most every one will be wanting the good Lord to send a shower of rain in a few days, as the wind and sun is mighty strong and hot these days, besides the ground is very hard where it is not muddy, etc. Health is the next in order. . . . THE JOYS OF CAMPING OUT.

From the Lewiston (Pa.) Democratic-Sentinel.

Our first visit of the season to Shatzer's Shanty occurred last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Upon arriving at the camp, at 9 o'clock a. m., Mr. Shatzer thought he would add to the bill of fare a mess of trout, but, alas, he was fortunate enough to catch only those under lawful size, hence the dining department was that much short. On Friday evening as the shadows of night began to draw over the mountain wilds, Harry Peters of Lumber City arrived and joined us in the camp. On Saturday morning he and Mr. Shatzer tried their luck at fishing, but no go. Mr. Shatzer wore his long rubber hip boots constantly so great is his fear of serpents. He also took with him to the camp six pounds of brimstone and a huge chunk of limberger cheese. The brimstone was for the purpose of driving out gnats, spiders and mosquitoes, as they are unusually plentiful this year, no doubt owing to the excess of moisture. At 7 o'clock on Friday evening Shatzer made the stove red hot, poked it full of wood, set on it an iron kettle and into that he dumped the brimstone, then closed all doors and windows and got out. He said he was going to raise h—l and he did. He also claimed that everything would run that was in the shanty, and he was right. A roll of good fresh butter run all through the cupboard. Then Shatzer tried to introduce the other campers to his limberger, but they were averse to having anything to do with it.

Shirts, $1.45.

Choice of $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00 shirts.

Our summer clearance of fancy shirts; coat style; plaited and soft bosoms; cuffs attached and detached.

The $1.25 and $1.50 shirts are offered at $1.10.

When buying shirts for the summer season, we didn't expect such good business. In mid-season, our lines were so broken, we began to order more. As the makers had already received some of their advance fall shirtings, we had some of them made up for our fall stock these are included in this sale. All and all, it is the most desirable lot of shirts we ever offered at $1.45.

You know that we make, each season, a thorough clearance of the season's shirts.

Invoices of the shirts, selected for our fall trade, are in our hands, and all summer fancy shirts must be cleared out at once.

I seen him when he done it—
I ain't told no one why;
But—well, twas her begun it
To hinder her and I.

I'd always took to Sady—
I liked the ways of she;
For her was born a lady,
Which were not you nor me.

And when we'd saw her getting
To no more be the same,
Us all began regretting
That her had ever came.

But him—twas him as hid it;
I'll learn him what we meant—
He hadn't ought to did it,
Nor had she ought to went.

But her and me will floor him—
I ain't began in fun;
Who'd went there long before him
And witnessed all he done.

I hain't content with scorning—
I'll biff his map to rag,
Because he snook that morning
And leaved her held the bag.

OUR 400,000 TONS OF NAVAL STRENGTH

Newton Forest in Harper's Weekly.

A comparison of the naval strength of Japan and the United States is doubly interesting in view of the recent departure of the American fleet of battleships for the Pacific, and the significance which has been attached to this event. The American navy has on its list 29 battleships of 16,000 tons and over, while Japan has 13; our navy has 11 coast defense vessels, Japan 3; we have 15 armored cruisers, Japan 13. But in the number of torpedo boats and torpedo-boat destroyers, Japan is far ahead. She has 79 torpedo boats and 57 torpedo-boat destroyers, while the United States has only 33 torpedo boats and 21 torpedo-boat destroyers. On the other hand, Japan has only nine submarines, while we have 19.

In the cost of battleships of our navy, the Connecticut and the Kansas lead all others, the former costing $7,677,696, and the latter $7,071,143. The cost of maintenance of each type of warship is as follows: Battleships, $636,587.12; armored cruiser, $755,151.47; protected cruiser, $583,002.26; gunboat, $115,585.12; torpedo-boat destroyer, $77,354.22; torpedo boat, $51,650.98; submarine, $36,454.10.

The total number of ships in the American navy is 168; in the navy of Great Britain, 545; in the French navy, 346; in the navy of Germany, 210, and Japan has 104. It will thus be seen that while the United States has the least number of ships of these five powers, she is still second in rank by her comparative strength in battleship tonnage. Great Britain's tonnage is 821,390; United States, 406,146; France, 368,461; Germany, 358,461; Japan, 191,498.

The reason of the excess of ships in the French navy is found in the fact that she has 271 torpedo boats and 99 submarines, while England has only 71 torpedo boats and 48 submarines, and the United States only 33 torpedo boats and 19 submarines.

THE "HOOLIGAN'S TERROR"

Sir John Charles Day, the English judge who earned the title of the "Hooligan's Terror," died recently at the age of 82. In the nineteen years Sir John was a judge of the high court—from 1882 to 1901—he was noted for his gift of solemn humor and for his drastic flogging sentences. In fourteen years he sentenced 137 criminals to receive strokes of the cat. Once he said to a gang of Liverpool ruffians: "I am not going to give you men long terms of imprisonment, but when you go in you get twenty lashes of the cat; when you have been in nine months you get twenty lashes of the cat; before you come out you get twenty lashes of the cat. And then you can show what you have got to your friends." He was perhaps the only judge who has ever done "hard labor." While on a visit to a prison he tried the treadmill, but when he asked to be set free the guard pretended not to hear his request. The judge was perspiring freely by the time he was permitted to abandon his experiment.

IN DEFENSE OF THE WOMAN.

L. R. Goodrich, president of the Cornell debate council, declared recently that Cornell would not yield to Columbia's protest against the selection of Miss Elizabeth Ellsworth Cook, a "co-ed" who was chosen a member of Cornell's team for the debate against Columbia, February 28.

Mr. Goodrich, who is also president of the Triangular Intercollegiate Debate League, says he will declare Miss Cook eligible and will fight her disbarment if forced to call a league meeting to discuss the question. Though the Cornell debate council supports Mr. Goodrich, there is some opposition to his attitude elsewhere in debating circles.

Mr. Goodrich declares that Miss Cook is entirely eligible under Cornell rules, as well as under those of the league. He has written President Woodbury of the Columbia council to this effect.

"THE CRITICS CRITICISED"

"The Critics Criticised" is the caption over an amusing story in a Berlin paper, furnished by its Paris correspondent. Abbel Devol, director of the Theater Athenee, says the writer, invited a number of newspaper men and many friends to witness the dress rehearsal of a new play, entitled "The War of Flowers." At the close of the second act there was much derisive laughter under the leadership of a newspaper man, Armand d'Arcolis by name. M. Devol arose in his box and protested against that form of criticism, but his words had no effect. Then he said: "You are entitled to your opinion, but these people are my guests, and no person has the right to disturb them. Let the critics say what they will, I shall protect my guests against annoyance and the players against brutality." There is a division of opinion now as to which part of the evening's entertainment furnished the greater fun—the performance on the stage or that in the box.

BETTER INCANDESCENT LAMPS

A Great Many Changes for the Better Have Taken Place in the Incandescent Lamp, Making It Cheaper and More Economical.

The whole world applauded when Thomas A. Edison, after working steadily three days and two nights to make a filament for his first incandescent lamp, proved that the small electric light was possible and could be made for a price within reach of all. Since that wonderful day, now nearly 26 years ago, many noteworthy improvements have been made in electric machinery of all kinds, and a great many changes for the better have taken place in the incandescent lamp, making it cheaper and more economical. To-day the incandescent lamp is one of the most common things in this electric age, and although the process of manufacture has been so perfected that they cost but a few cents each, the total value of last year's output in this country is estimated by the census bureau as over $7,000,000.

When the first incandescent lamp was introduced to the public it was a clumsy, expensive and inefficient affair compared with the lamps of today. These first lamps contained about 30 times as much costly platinum wire as the present types, as the platinum leading wires to the glass bulb were unnecessarily long and heavy. The exhausting of the air from the bulb in those days cost more than the entire lamp does today. In 1882, and for years after, the glass bulbs were blown by hand labor. Lately they are produced to a certain extent by mechanical means, at less than 10 per cent of the former cost. Even the testing of the finished lamps is done for less than one-tenth of the original expense.

The wire-like filaments in the first incandescent lamps were made of thin strips of carbonized paper or bamboo. At a very early stage cellulose material replaced these delicate and short-lived conductors. Such lamps of 16-candle power size require about 50 watts of electrical power to attain their full efficiency. This current consumption has recently been reduced by half in commercial lamps of practically the same type.

In perfecting the incandescent lamp, the scientists and inventors are always trying to secure higher candle-power with less consumption of current and more light with less energy wasted in heat. One of the latest improvements in the carbon filament lamp is the "gem" unit with what is known as a "metalized" filament, although it contains no metal. This lamp consumes only 2.5 watts per candle-power against 3.1 to 3.8 for the older type. The filament in this new lamp is improved and strengthened by baking it in an electric furnace at a temperature of 3,700 degrees Centigrade. The result is the production of an exceedingly pure form of carbon having greater density and lower specific resistance than the older filament.

Perhaps the most noteworthy advancement in electric lighting was the introduction, a few months ago, of the new metal filament lamps. In the early experiments metals which could stand reasonably high temperatures without melting, such as platinum, were tried, but they broke down, or melted, before they attained the results of even a good carbon lamp. Experiments were continued along these lines, utilizing several rare metals then slightly known but never existing in pure form. The first success was to the credit of German electrical and metallurgical experts. Several years ago, acting on the principle as a starting point that the light from an incandescent lamp filament increases progressively with the temperature of the filament, elaborate experiments were begun in Germany to discover a metal that would withstand a much higher temperature than carbon. After the rare metal tantalum was produced in its pure form, it was found to give most satisfactory results.

The chemical properties of tantalum are very remarkable. It is very hard, and only recently has it been successfully drawn into wire. When cold it resists the action of the strongest acids. The filament in a tantalum lamp is about 15 inches long, looped many times on a spider support. As the filament becomes soft when heated to incandescence, it must be anchored at both ends of the loops. The bulb contains a glass rod with little platinum wires at the end and midway upon which the tantalum wire is looped. These lamps require only 2 watts per candle power against 3.1 in the ordinary lamps. This gives the man whose house is lighted by electricity a third more light for the same amount of money.

The latest and most valuable development in the incandescent lamp field is the new tungsten lamp. These lamps are made from still another rare metal known as tungsten. It is also a German discovery which was subsequently purchased by the General Electric company and developed to its present state of usefulness. This lamp consumes only 1 to 1.5 watts per candle-power, a saving of more than two-thirds of current consumed in the ordinary lamps. This wonderful economy is best shown by stating that with tungsten lamps substituted for the common incandescent lamps in a house lighted by electricity the result would be three times as much light for the same amount of current and the same amount of cost.

The fundamental value of tungsten as a lamp filament lies in its wonderfully high melting point. It is almost impossible to melt this metal. As a metal, as we understand the word, tungsten is practically unknown. It cannot be made into ingots, bars or wire. In its usual refined form it appears as a fine, steel blue powder. Because it cannot be drawn into wire the lamp filaments from the metal have to be made in a roundabout way. The powder is mixed with an adhesive paste and squirted through a die in a fine thread. The filament is baked in an electric oven at a high temperature until the particles of tungsten are practically welded together. The filament is then looped and anchored in the bulb nearly the same way as in the tantalum lamp.

The fact that experiments and discoveries within the past few months have resulted in new incandescent lamps which produce twice and three times as much light for the same cost is very encouraging to those who enjoy electric lights. What the future will bring forth is, of course, merely speculation but there are those among the world's leading inventors who say that the incandescent lamp is still a long way from the perfection it will attain in the next few years to come.

HONEST AMERICANS.

A German manufacturer on his first visit to the United States was the guest of a kinsman in New York. He expressed surprise when, a few days after his arrival, he saw a number of men help themselves to papers at an unattended news stand, where some men laid down the exact price of their purchase, others walked away without paying. He was told that the last-named group were customers who paid once a week, but that no one ever failed to pay. To demonstrate his contention that "most people are honest in this country," the Americanized German took his visitor that day to a restaurant where both were unknown, and when they had finished their luncheon the host went to the cashier's desk with his check and said he had no money with him, but would pay the next day. The cashier gave the couple a hasty glance, and said: "All right; I'll take a chance," and the men started for the street. At the door a right-about-face movement was executed, and the check was paid, a good cigar was handed to the cashier, to whom the plot was revealed, and the German exclaimed, "Grossartig!"

G. B. BURHANS TESTIFIES AFTER FOUR YEARS.

G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of these symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." For sale by all dealers.

GENESIS OF THE UMBRELLA.

From the Chicago News.

Umbrellas and parasols were used by the eastern nations many centuries before the Christian era. The oldest chinaware shows pictures of ladies and mandarins shaded by parasols of patterns similar to those now in use. So little known, however, were these articles to Europeans that a dictionary, published not more than 150 years ago, defines the word "umbrella" thus: "A portable penthouse to carry in a person's hand, to screen him from violent rain or heat." The first umbrella ever seen in the streets of London was carried by the philanthropist, James Hanway, who died in 1786.

For many years after the introduction of umbrellas a man could not be seen carrying one, without being hooted for his effeminacy, particularly when passing a hackney coach stand. The drivers of those vehicles regarded the umbrella in the light of a rival. For a long time coffee houses and inns were accustomed to keep a single umbrella of great magnitude for the purpose of shielding customers from the rain as they passed from the door to their carriages.

It was not until about the year 1830 that the use of the umbrella became so general throughout Europe and America that a man could carry one without attracting the attention of passers-by to a disagreeable extent. In Spain and Italy the article was first domesticated and France adopted it next.

FISH THAT IS NOT AFRAID.

From the Fishing Gazette.

The boldness of a pike is very extraordinary. I have seen one follow a bait within a foot of the spot where I have been standing; and the head keeper of Richmond park assured me that he was once washing his hand at the side of a boat in the great pond in that park when a pike made a dart at it and he had but just time to withdraw it.

A gentleman now residing at Weybridge, in Surrey, informed me that walking one day by the side of the River Wey near that town he saw a large pike in a shallow creek. He immediately pulled off his coat, tucked up his shirt sleeves and went into the water to intercept the return of the fish to the river and to endeavor to throw it upon the bank by getting his hands under it.

During this attempt the pike, finding he could not make his escape, seized one of the arms of the gentleman and lacerated it so much that the wound is still very visible.

GOOD ORE ON W. P. H.

HAYDEN AND PRICE SHIPPING 10 CARS MONTHLY.

Values Run to Two and One-Half Ounces in Gold on Five-Foot Vein

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 15.—Messrs. Hayden and Price, operating on the famous W. P. H. property on Ironclad hill, are shipping from 10 to 12 cars of ore a month from this mine, which has produced already over $1,000,000 in gold. The present lessees are working on several different levels, but are getting most of their ore from the 400-foot level, where work is being done through the Jerry Johnson shaft. The vein is from four to five feet in width, but the values vary considerably, running from one to two and one-half ounces in gold. It was but a short time ago that Messrs. Hayden and Price came onto some metallic gold similar to that which was uncovered a few years ago by Harrison and Seaver, who took out nearly $1,000,000 in less than one year.

There is a large amount of work being done on this hill this summer. The Damon property is shipping ore regularly; the Jerry Johnson is maintaining a good tonnage of better than average ore, while the Forest Queen is shipping out five cars of ore a week that will average $30 in gold to the ton. The Pride Leasing company is working steadily on the Pride of Cripple Creek, but so far has done but little in the way of shipments.

DUMP PAYS WELL

Car of Rock Per Day Taken From Moon-Anchor Property.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 15.—Tom McCall is shipping the dump on the Moon-Anchor property, on the west slope of Gold hill, and is getting out no less than one car of ore a day. The average value of the dump rock which is being sent to the United States Reduction and Refining company is $8 per ton, which allows of a small profit, but with the heavy tonnage maintained, the total every month amounts to considerable. Messrs. Bruington and White have also secured a lease on a portion of this immense dump, and they have started in to make shipments. They expect shortly to send out from five to seven cars a week, and the ore will run about the same grade as is being shipped by Mr. McCall.

NO BASIS FOR ADVANCE

STOCKS ARE HIGHER WITHOUT APPARENT CAUSE.

Railroad Securities Strong Largely on Account of Good Reports.

NEW YORK, July 15.—There was no striking new developments to account for the further advance of prices of stocks today. The buying was based on the general improvement in the speculative situation. Commission houses reported some moderate and scattering increase in orders for miscellaneous sources, but the transactions remained largely in professional hands and partook of the manipulative character usual in that class of operations. The decisive fact stood out prominently, as was the case yesterday, that increased selling pressure was light as the level of prices was lifted, thus leaving the way unobstructed for a continuance of the advance.

There were occasional setbacks in the movement, which seemed to be due as much to pauses in the bullish operations as to any active selling pressure. In United States Steel there was some manifest selling to realize a part of it coming from foreign quarters. This was absorbed with confidence, and that stock and the preferred stock proceeded to a new high price for the year. These stocks constituted an effective leadership for the whole market, their persistent strength having a strong sentimental influence in maintaining prices elsewhere.

A number of industrial stocks, including most of the distinctively iron and steel industrials went to the highest prices of the year. Amalgamated Copper, National Lead, Central Leather and United States Rubber were old examples in the class of industrials. The railroad lists shared in the day's strength, but offered fewer instances of high record prices. However, Union Pacific (allowing for dividend reduction), Northern Pacific, Atchison and Canadian Pacifics, were at the year's best prices today.

The Canadian stock is helped particularly by favorable reports of wheat crop prospects in its territory and by the rapid development of some of that territory. Crop news generally was favorable today, as was indicated by the decline in prices of grains. The generally cheerful view of prospects which is obtaining foothold in financial circles, was fostered by confident views expressed in published interviews by several leading financial authorities.

Probably some part of the underlying strength of railroad stocks is due to the conviction that a process of readjustment of freight rates is being worked out by the railroads of the country which will result in an increase of the revenues derived from their traffic. News of the filing of notices with the interstate commerce commission of new rates, shows the movement to be widespread and the changes to represent increases as a rule. While nothing like a general increase has been attempted thus far, it is believed that the result will be sought in a piecemeal manner. Shipping interests are by no means agreed with the contention of the railroads that these increases can be instituted without perceptible effect on prices of commodities, and can thus hope to escape complaint and criticism while enabling the railroads to cover the margin of fixed charges and moderate profits, without cutting down wages of employes. In spite of protests of shippers in various organizations, it is evident that the increases of freight rates are going on and the effect on securities prices is undeniably favorable. The quick sale of the Delaware and Hudson bond issue and the advance in the premium on the new bonds in the market, had some helpful influence. The engagement of $900,000 gold for export to Paris, being all the bar gold procurable, was practically ignored in the stock market. Repayment of the quota of government deposits called for by the secretary of the treasury was completed today, and preparations were completed for the 95 per cent payment of subscriptions to Union Pacific bonds tomorrow.

WHEAT DROPS SLIGHTLY

GOOD WEATHER CONDITIONS RESPONSIBLE.

Primary Receipts Are Heavy and Prospects for Big Crop Excellent.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Lower temperatures in the northwest caused weakness today in the local wheat market, the September delivery closing at a net loss of 1@1¼. Corn was up ⅛@¼. Oats were off ⅛@½ and provisions were 2½@10c higher.

The change in weather conditions in the northwest furnished the chief incentive for free selling by commission houses and local longs. Although the official weather map showed very little rain in the spring wheat country, private advices reported heavy showers in Manitoba and various sections of the Dakotas and the official forecast was for rain tonight or tomorrow for a large part of the drouth-stricken region. Cooler weather also prevailed throughout the northwest. An increase in primary receipts and a decline at Liverpool helped to weaken the market. A report that 42 boatloads of wheat had been "worked" for export at New York had a steadying effect late in the session. The market closed weak, September opened ⅝@¾ to ⅞@⅞ lower at 90⅝ to 90¾, sold at 90⅞ and then declined to 89⅞. The close was at 90⅛. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 148,200 bu. Primary receipts were 629,000 bu, compared with 518,000 bu, the corresponding day a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 280 cars against 165 last week and 206 cars a year ago.

The corn market was dull and irregular favorable weather for the growing crop causing an easier tone in the new crop months and continued small receipts imparted moderate firmness to the July and September deliveries. The market closed irregular, the new deliveries being firm and the distant options easy. September opened unchanged to ½ lower advanced 74⅝ and closed at 74¼. Local receipts were 93 cars, with 8 of contract.

Trade in oats was active and the market was weak. Improved weather conditions for the crop in the northwest and the break in wheat brought out realizing sales by local holders. Demand was largely from shorts. September opened ¼ to ⅛@⅜ lower at 43@43¼, sold at 42½ and closed at 42⅝@43. Local receipts 60 cars.

Provisions early in the session rallied sharply from yesterday's severe slump, but lost much of the strength on realizing sales. The upturn at the start was due chiefly to active demand by local packers. The close was firm. September pork sold between $15.82½ and $16.20 and closed at a gain of 50@75c at $15.90; lard ranged between $9.30@9.35 and $9.45 and closed at $9.40 a net gain of 2@7c. Ribs ranged between $8.77½ and $8.92½ and closed 10c higher at $8.85@8.87½.

EXPET STOCK OPINIONS

By private leased wire to J. C. Cullen.

NEW YORK, July 15.

Miller & Co. say: It would take an extremely wise man and a very bold one to forecast just exactly what we shall get out of this rut, but underlying conditions are growing more satisfactory hourly and we are firm believers in the higher level for the active stocks.

Hutton & Co.: There is nothing in the Wall Street situation to create activity in securities in the near future and we rather look for a declining market.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Further bullish operations may be expected. There should be good buying in the entire list and we look for the bulls to have things their way for some time. The market should gradually broaden. We feel that the conservatively bullish position should be maintained with the greatest confidence. News reports this morning indicate that the crop damage reports from the northwest were exaggerated as expected and that the weather in the interior this morning is favorable, the intense heat so necessary up to within a few days ago having disappeared with the probability of welcome showers. The crops appear especially favored this year. Other reports show the greater willingness of labor to accept wage reductions and this is a factor of importance and is favorable to values. Speer is bullish in his interview before leaving and city and Gary, on his arrival in Europe gives a bullish report on conditions. The continued easy money with the big gains by the banks is stimulating investment and we are informed by experts that seldom has there been so great a scarcity of good bonds. The same may be said of good stocks. The advance of Atchison and Steel was on small transactions. If these maximum grade securities can rise on so small a dealing, what will happen when issues of higher class start—we find upward, many shorts turned bullish to a marked degree.

DRESS REGULATIONS STRICT

The Oberpostdirectionsbezirk-Revisor—other wise a district inspector of the postoffice department of Germany—on a tour of inspection found a telephone operator in a small town "wearing a white silk waist cut low at the neck, instead of the blue uniform waist," and reported the offender to the chief of the inspection office. "Not only," said he, "were the regulations of the service violated, but the silk garment was cut very low." The chief office directed the immediate discharge of the telephone operator and gave warning to other possible offenders that women in the imperial service must "dress in keeping with the service regulations."

WAS IN POOR HEALTH FOR YEARS. Ira W. Kelley, of Mansfield, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit, but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others." Refuse substitutes. For sale by all dealers.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE.

TEN (10) REASONS WHY

WE ADVERTISE LAND AT LA VETA.

First—Because the land is productive.

Second—Because it is well improved.

Third—Because there is plenty of water and of the best, both for irrigation and domestic purposes.

Fourth—Because the all-year climate is ideal.

Fifth—Because La Veta is easy to get to and from.

Sixth—Because the market facilities are of the best.

Seventh—Because it is not only a good farming country, but a good stock country.

Eighth—Because every improved acre yields a good income.

Ninth—Because, considering the income, the prices are cheap.

Tenth—Because there is hunting, fishing, mountain scenery, etc., within walking distance of home.

There are many other good reasons. See our list of Ranches near La Veta, in the Cucharas Valley.

RECORD LUMBER YIELD.

Records for the amount of lumber sawed from one tree, from one acre and from ten acres have been shattered by the cut made from a 10-acre tract of land on the north shore of Puget sound. The log scale shows that 5,100,766 feet were obtained from 561 trees in a 10-acre tract, or an average of 510,076 feet to the acre, according to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. The record acre of the 10 yielded just 585,648 feet, as compared with a normal average of 25,000 feet to the acre. On this particular acre a single fir tree scaled 22,145 feet, or less than 3,000 feet under the average yeild of an entire acre of ground.

NESTOR OF GERMAN SCULPTORS

Johannes Schilling, known as the Nestor of German Sculptors, celebrated the 80th anniversary of his birthday on June 23. Among his notable works are "The Four Divisions of the Day," at Dresden; the Schiller memorial at Berlin, the colossal figure of Germania at Neiderwalde and the Reformation memorial ae Leipsic. On his birthday, a movement was started to erect in Dresden a Schilling museum, where models of his works may be preserved. The first subscriber was the city of Dresden, with 60,000 marks, and the state followed with 50,000 marks. Schilling is still in good health but his sight is rapidly failing.

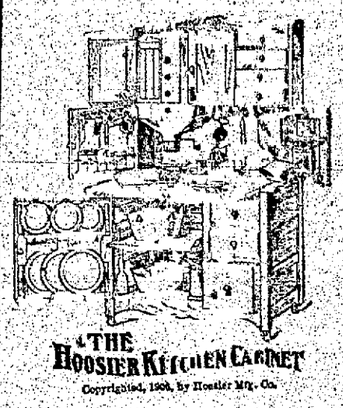
Keep Away From the Hot Kitchen This Summer



You can't get away from kitchen work altogether, but you can make it much easier and lighter if you buy a

Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet

It will enable you to cut your kitchen work in two these hot summer days. Think of it—three hours labor instead of six—and the time you save you can spend in the garden or on the porch in the fresh air, away from the heat.

The Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet groups every article needed in preparing a meal, in one complete table pantry and kitchen cupboard so that the work can all be done in one place.

That cuts out the unnecessary half of the work the endless chain of steps from pantry to kitchen table.

You can move the cabinet away from the range—near the window—or in the coolest place you can find so that even the time spent in the kitchen will be pleasanter, and the special conveniences of the Hoosier makes the kitchen work much lighter.

The price of this labor-saving convenience is so low that you can not afford to be without it.

Come into our store and let us show you why the Hoosier will save so much work, and how it can help you in your kitchen this summer.

GIDDINGS BROS

An interesting demonstration by Madame Rogers

Young ladies who enjoy horseback riding, out-door games and various athletic sports, and ladies with stout and medium figures are taking a great interest in this demonstration of CORSLETTE, a garment that supports the bust and back.

Perfect comfort is secured whether the bust is preferred high or low, and the bust is held firmly in the desired position, a very essential thing to the lady who rides and indulges in athletic sports.

Ladies with stout and medium figures, ladies who are afflicted with weak backs or spinal trouble, and those with one prominent shoulder blade will enjoy the results of a corslette. Prices are $1, $1.50, $2.50.

Madame Rogers will be here this week only. Make it a point to see her. Corslette is one of the great achievements of the present age, designed for health and comfort. Remember, but three days more of this demonstration at our corset department.

All wool albatross 39c

36-inch fine all-wool albatross, shown in black, cream, and beautiful shades of greens, blues, pinks, gray, lavender, browns, tans, in all about 25 different shades.

We'll tell you how we can sell them so cheap. During the dull season the manufacturers are anxious to keep their looms in operation. Negotiations are opened with wide-awake merchants throughout the country, big orders are obtained and by concentrating the entire lot it makes an enormous amount. All the looms are put in movement. The manufacturers are willing to take a good slice off the prices because they have succeeded in working their entire force during the whole dull season. Now to make the occasion sill more notable, we bought an extra large amount and have nipped off a portion of our percentage.

See the display of albatross in our front window. The sale is attracting many. We're sure you will be interested. Remember, all wool and only 39c the yard.

CITY OFFICIALS ARE REQUESTED TO RESIGN

Petitions Circulated for Scalps of Mayor, Two Aldermen and Water Superintendent.

WITHDRAWN PENDING ACTION BY COMMITTEE

Will Be Passed Around Again if Citizens' Representatives Do Not Ask for Same Action in Supplemental Report Within 48 Hours.—Many Signatures Secured During Hour Documents Are on Street.

Petitions requesting the resignation of Mayor D. N. Heizer, Aldermen Charles T. Fertig and E. W. Frost and Water Superintendent R. J. Verner were circulated among property owners of Colorado Springs yesterday morning, as a result of the recent report of the Citizens committee on the water situation. The petitions were withdrawn later on request of several members of the Citizens committee, with the understanding that the committee will submit a supplementary report today or tomorrow, but in the event that this second report does not ask for the resignation of the officials named, the petitions will again be placed in circulation. The name of Mayor Heizer, will be omitted, it is understood, since many citizens expressed the opinion that he has not been familiar enough with the water situation to be cognizant of the alleged neglect and mismanagement.

Mr. Fertig is president of the City Council and chairman of the water committee, of which Mr. Frost is also a member. A. M. Holden, the third member of the water committee, is the father of the resolution passed by the Council requesting the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants association and Real Estate exchange to investigate the conduct of the water department.

Matter Won't Be Dropped.

Copies of the petition requesting the resignation of the city officials were out only about an hour yesterday, and had been signed by many prominent citizens before they were called in. The papers were withdrawn by W. H. Bacon, a well-known property owner and business man of Colorado Springs, with offices in the Midland block. Mr. Bacon was instrumental in drawing up and circulating the petition. He said yesterday:

"The petition asking for the resignation of Messrs. Fertig, Frost and Verner will be circulated again within 48 hours unless the citizens water committee requests the same action on the part of the officials in question before the expiration of that time. The document was drawn up and copies passed around for signatures, after consultation with a large number of property owners, who regarded it as a proper method of expressing their sentiments on the conduct of the water department of the city. Many business men came to me after the copies were withdrawn, asking to be allowed to sign. Many weighty signatures will be secured if the petitions are again placed in general circulation."

Committee Refuses Evidence.

The citizens committee has refused the request of the City Council that it be given the evidence on which the recent report of the committee was based. In a brief letter the committee expressed the opinion that the Council is able, if it desires, to secure evidence supporting every statement of fact in the report.

The aldermen are meeting almost every day as a committee of the whole to consider the report, and will probably report to the Council at its regular meeting next Monday night.

Mayor's Action Confirmed.

At a special meeting last night the aldermen unanimously confirmed the action of the Mayor in leasing four reservoir sites near Green Mountain Falls from Alexander Crowe. Holden and Hosman objected to having the lease run one year longer than the option to purchase, which expires the last day of this year, but when informed that in case it does not desire to purchase the land, the city may sublease it to cattlemen, the aldermen withdrew their objections. The city is to pay $225 per year rent for the land, with an option to purchase it for $15,000.

EXPLOSION NEAR TUNNEL

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 16.—What is regarded as an act of persons with malicious intent was the explosion of a quantity of dynamite near the portal of the Gatch park deep drainage tunnel, this afternoon. Little damage was done, however, beyond the tearing away of a portion of the boarding house by a large boulder which was loosened by the explosion. No clue to the perpetrators has been discovered.

EN ROUTE TO SPRINGS

CHAIRMAN HITCHCOCK LEAVES WASHINGTON.

Will Stop at Chicago to Arrange for National Headquarters in That City—Active Work Begun.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Chairman Frank Hitchcock of the Republican national committee, accompanied by James T. Williams, Jr., one of the staff of Republican headquarters, left today for Chicago en route to Colorado Springs, to attend the conference of western Republican leaders there next Monday and Tuesday.

Before leaving today Chairman Hitchcock talked with Francis Curtis, who is to have charge of the educational department of the literary bureau of the national committee. Arrangements were made for Mr. Curtis to begin his work immediately, organizing his staff in preparation for the active work of the campaign.

Mr. Hitchcock will stop in Chicago tomorrow only long enough to complete arrangements for national headquarters in that city. He then will proceed to Colorado Springs.

Mr. Curtis stated that the winner of the $150 prize contest for the best essay on "Why the Republican Party Should Be Successful Next November," will be made known about August 15, from New York. Several thousand manuscripts have already been submitted, and as many more are expected.

B. P. O. ELKS ON PARADE

Various Delegations at Dallas Convention Cheered by Thousands.

DALLAS, Tex., July 16.—Garbed in costumes both unique and typical of the different sections of the country they represented, the various delegations attending the annual reunion of the Elks, marched in review today before a throng of cheering onlookers. New York lodge No. 1, the pioneer lodge of the organization, marched behind a blood-red banner and Los Angeles, which city was chosen as the next place of meeting, in spotless white, followed in turn by the various other delegations, each with some original feature, and the bands some forty in number.

Behind a banner, borne by two burros, W. A. Fitz of Walla Walla, Wash., marched with a hat more than a yard wide and in height of proportion.

U.S. ATHLETES WIN

SHERIDAN CHAMPION IN FREE STYLE DISCUS THROW.

ROSE TAKES SHOT PUT EASILY

Counting Regular Points in Field Events, Americans Lead in Olympics With 31 Points, but Britons Have Another System by Which They Win.

LONDON, July 16.—This was America's day in the Olympic sports at the stadium, both big events which reached the finals, throwing the discus, free style, and putting the shot, being carried off by Martin J. Sheridan of the Irish-American Athletic club of New York and Ralph Rose of the Olympic club of San Francisco, respectively. The United Kingdom captured the third final, the 400-meter swimming event, in which H. Taylor added to the score of his country by beating Beaurepaire, the Australian crack, and Scheff of Austria.

The finals also were reached in the 1,000-meter cycle race, but this proved such a fiasco through the attempts of four of the participants—Schilles of France, and Jones, Kingsbury and Johnson of England—to force each other to make the pace, that the judges declared the event off, it not being finished within the limit.

Italy got its first gold medal today in the team gymnastic competition, receiving the greatest number of points against a great array of competitors.

Sheridan Easy Champion.

Martin J. Sheridan, Irish-American Athletic club, retained the championship in the discus throw without great effort. His throw that gave him first place in the final was 134 feet 2 inches, which was more than two feet behind his own record. M. H. Giffin, Chicago Athletic association, was a good second with 133 feet 6½ inches, and M. F. Horr, Irish-American Athletic association, was third with 129 feet 5 inches.

The only man to challenge seriously America for third place was Jarvine of Finland, 129 feet 4½ inches. John J. Flanagan, Irish-American Athletic association, could not get above 124 feet. Lee J. Talbot, Irish-American Athletic association, however, did slightly better than Flanagan, reaching a fraction below 126 feet. Neither Garrels of the Chicago Athletic association nor S. T. Gillis of the New York Athletic club could get into the swing, and they fell far below their team mates.

The Americans were busy all morning throwing the discus, free style, members of the American team being entered in almost every section. Owing to the withdrawal of a number of men, sections 1 and 2 were grouped and Burroughs, who, with Adams, represented America, outthrew France, the United Kingdom and Hungary with a throw of 123 feet 9½ inches.

This did not long stand as the best throw, however, Deerhorn, who was in this section, placing the discus 126 feet 4½ inches from the circle, all other competitors in his section being hopelessly behind.

Giffin, in the fourth section, carried off the honors with 132 feet 8½ inches.

America again made the best throw in the fifth section, Horr doing the trick this time with a throw of 129 feet 5 inches.

No throw in the sixth section, in which no Americans were drawn, counted, as all were below previous throws, and only the three best in all sections qualify for the finals.

Sections 7 and 8 in the discus throwing were grouped with Sheridan and Talbot as representatives of America, being pitted against the men of Greece, Finland, the United Kingdom, Norway, Germany and Sweden. Sheridan overthrew the others, covering 133 feet 1½ inches.

In the final of the discus throw, Sheridan made 134 feet 2 inches and Giffin 133 feet 6½ inches. Horr was third with 123 feet 5 inches.

Rose Wins Shotput.

The final in putting the weight contest was won by Ralph Rose, Olympic club, San Francisco; Horgan, United Kingdom, was second, and J. C. Garrels, Chicago Athletic association, was third. Rose's distance was 46 feet 7½

TAFT COMPLETES HIS SPEACH

Contains Ten Thousand Words in Its Present Form Will Have to Be Boiled Down.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 16.—Judge William H. Taft is feeling very comfortable tonight over the fact that the first draft of his speech of acceptance of the nomination for the presidency by the Republican party has been finished. But the paper is far from being completed. The dictation yesterday and today amounted to ten thousand words, that will be reduced to as near three thousand, five hundred as possible.

Mr. Taft completed his task this afternoon and then went out to play golf with George Ingalls.

Mr. Taft declared that he could not undertake to give any intimation of what his speech in regard to the tariff contained, because great changes may be made in the paper before it goes to the printer.

NEGRO TALK AVOIDED

BRYAN WILL NOT DISCUSS BROWNSVILLE AFFAIR.

Declares He Will Not Take Up Any Issue Not Contained in the Platform.

FAIRVIEW, LINCOLN, Neb., July 16.—William J. Bryan does not intend to be drawn into the Brownsville case if he can help it. In all his conversations with visiting delegations and others, he has carefully refrained from talking on that subject and today he put the brand of untruthfulness upon an alleged statement by Bishop Walters of the Afro-Methodist Episcopal church, to the effect that he had assured a negro delegation that he regarded President Roosevelt's action in that matter as unjust. At the same time, he also denied another alleged interview of the bishop that he had discussed the appointment of negroes to office.

These declarations were called forth by a telegram from the Baltimore Sun, inquiring as to the truth of the statements said to have emanated from Bishop Walters. To the newspaper men at Fairview, Mr. Bryan said that he had not and would not take up any issue not contained in the platform.

Mr. Bryan spent a fairly busy day today. Delegates returning from the Denver convention again made pilgrimages to Fairview.

FLEET AT ANCHOR

AMERICAN WARSHIPS REACH HONOLULU.

WARM WELCOME GIVEN MEN

Thousands of Islanders Gather to Witness Magnificent Spectacle. Daylight Fireworks Are Used. Intense Patriotism Is Displayed.

HONOLULU, July 16.—The Atlantic battleship fleet arrived here at noon today, completing another long leg in its world cruise.

Magnificent beyond anything else ever seen in these waters was the arrival, as one powerful vessel after another rose out of the eastern horizon and came in the range of vision of the thousands of spectators from the whole Hawaiian group of islands, who thronged Diamond head and adjoining heights that stretch beyond Waikiki eastward from Honolulu to the extremity of the island of Oahu.

The day opened cloudy and threatening, rain, but by 9:30 o'clock when the lookout on Diamond head through his telescope first described the smoke of the Connecticut, the southern half of the sky was clear and only fleecy clouds obscured the northern half. Early, the city was astir and the pilgrimage to Diamond head and other points of vantage began with street cars jammed, automobiles and gaily-decked carriages crowded with eager people.

Many rode horseback, while others hastened on board excursion craft in the bay.

Cosmopolitan Crowd.

Upon the first notification of the sighting of the fleet the excursion steamers hurried out of the harbor and as the fleet rounded Diamond head and came into view of the city their approach was beheld from roofs and tall buildings by a cosmopolitan crowd, men, women and children of all the races and nations that go to make up Honolulu's population—Japanese, Chinese, Korean, Hindoo, Hawaiian, Portuguese, Spanish, Porto Rican, Filipino and people from every European country and every state in the Union. Nearly all carried an American flag and from the housetops of the city floated, besides the stars and stripes, flags of almost every nation, Chinese, and Japanese predominating.

The formation of the fleet began to be distinguished when it was about 15 miles distant and as it plowed its course along the southern coast of the island, it furnished a magnificent spectacle, the vessels moving slowly in perfect column. A wind fresh from the northeast, blew the smoke of the ships off the port bow.

Vessels Arrive at Noon.

Just at noon the Connecticut hove to at the outer entrance of the channel and the other vessels took position.

The Illinois, Kearsarge and Kentucky anchored westward of the channel entrance, the Georgia, Nebraska, New Jersey and Rhode Island to the eastward. At 12:30 the Connecticut slowly entered the channel surrounded by a Japanese fishing fleet firing daylight fireworks of many and curious designs.

When the Connecticut was about to enter the harbor, she was greeted by

HEARST WON'T SUPPORT BRYAN

DENOUNCES BOTH HIM AND HIS PARTY.

CALLS COMMONER CHAMELEON

HAS LOST FAITH IN UNREGENERATE DEMOCRACY.

REPLY TO GOMPERS' REMARK

Independent Leader Doesn't Regard It as an Act of Patriotism to Indorse Platform of Party Which Has Done so Much to Injure Labor.

NEW YORK, July 16.—A cablegram has been received from William Randolph Hearst in reply to a message transmitted to Mr. Hearst from Samuel Gompers, stating that in view of the Democrats' stand for labor, it would be "an act of great patriotism for the Independence party to indorse the Democratic platform" and urging him not to run a third ticket as it would elect Mr. Taft.

Mr. Hearst's cablegram follows:

Paris, July 13.

Tell Mr. Gompers that I am not authorized to speak for the membership of the Independence league, but according to my personal standards, a purer patriotism consists in laboring to establish a new party which will be consistently devoted to the interests of the citizenship and particularly to the advantage and advancement of the producing classes.

Party Decadent.

I do not think the path of patriotism lies in supporting a discredited and decadent old party which has neither conscientious conviction nor honest intention, or in indorsing chameleon candidates who change the color of their political opinion with every varying hue of opportunism. I do not think the best benefit of laboring men lies in supporting that old party, because of a sop of false promise, when the performance of that party while in power did more to injure labor than all the injunctions ever issued before or since.

I have lost faith in the empty professions of an unregenerate Democracy. I have lost confidence in the ability, in the sincerity and even in the integrity of its leaders. I do not consider it patriotism to pretend to support that which, as a citizen, I distrust and detest and I earnestly hope the Independence party give me an opportunity to vote for candidates that are both able and honest and for a declaration of principles that is both sound and sincere.

EXPLOSION KILLS NINE

POWDER MAGAZINE AT TACOMA, WASH., GOES UP.

Manager and Several Clerks Instantly Killed,—Several Others Seriously Injured.

TACOMA, Wash., July 16.—A special to the Ledger from Cheelum, Wash., says:

An explosion in the powder magazine of the Northwestern Improvement company, near here, at 5 o'clock this afternoon, killed at least nine persons and seriously injured a number of others.

The killed:

GEORGE MEAD, manager Northwestern Improvement company store.

GILFORD M'DONELLS, clerk in store.

ANDRY GRILL, clerk in store.

MRS. PERRY MOFFATT, wife of brickmaker.

INFANT CHILD OF MOFFATT.

JOE ROSSI, miner.

JOE POGRIAPPI, miner.

TWO MINERS, names unknown.

Shortly before 5 o'clock Manager Mead and clerks went to the powder house to assist in unloading a carload of powder. How the accident happened is not known.

The magazine is three-quarters of a mile from the center of the town, and the explosion shook the town like an earthquake. Windows for a mile around were shattered and rocks and brick from the powder house were thrown hundreds of feet.

Mrs. Peter Moffatt, wife of a brickmaker, was living in a tent near the magazine with her two children. The tent was blown to pieces and Mrs. Moffatt's body has not yet been found.

Muffled cries were heard after the explosion, but they soon died down. Fragments of bodies were scattered for half a mile from the magazine.

TERRIFIC EARTHQUAKE

Provinces of Tacna and Arica, Chile, Badly Shaken.

TACNA, Chile, July 16.—A terrific earthquake occurred today in the provinces of Tacna and Arica, in Chile, the southern part of Peru and Bolivia. Considerable destruction of property, but no loss of life is reported. The cable between Arica and Lima has been broken and the telegraph lines

PROHIBITIONISTS CHOOSE CHAFIN

CHICAGOAN SELECTED HEAD NATIONAL TICKET.

WATKINS, OHIO, SECOND PLACE

BOTH ARE UNANIMOUS CHOICE OF CONVENTION.

SHORTEST PLATFORM KNOWN

Not More Than 350 Words in Report of Resolutions Committee Which Is Adopted Without Change—Election of Senators by Direct Vote Advocated.

COLUMBUS, O., July 16.—For President—Eugene W. Chafin, Chicago.

For Vice President—Aaron S. Watkins, Ada, O.

The above ticket was nominated today by the Prohibitionists national convention, both men being chosen unanimously. The full indorsement of the convention was not, however, given to Mr. Chafin until after three ballots had been taken.

On the first two ballots Mr. Chafin did not show a great amount of strength, receiving but 195 out of 1,083 votes on the first, and 376 out of 1,087 on the second ballot. His nomination was practically assured, however, when the roll call began for the third ballot. His own state, which had voted largely for Shepard of Peoria, Ill., and the New York delegation, followed by those of Indiana and Wisconsin, came over to Mr. Chafin, and on the third ballot he received a total of 836 votes.

The strongest competitor of Chafin was Rev. William B. Palmore of St. Louis, who received 274 votes on the first ballot, and 418 on the second, and a comparatively small vote after it was evident that the nomination of Mr. Chafin could not be prevented.

Convention Involved in Tangle.

The convention, up to this time, had run smoothly and without the slightest friction. It was decided to make Mr. Palmore the vice presidential nominee and he was named by acclamation. He declined to accept the office, however, and persisted in his attitude, despite the strong urgings of his friends. The convention, finding itself confronted with the necessity of naming another vice presidential candidate, and many of the delegates being anxious to catch the early night trains for their homes, became involved in a deep parliamentary tangle. The rules were several times suspended and the suspensions immediately revoked. Finally it was decided that Prof. Aaron S. Watkins of Ada, O., should be named by acclamation. There was no opposition to him at the moment and Chairman Charles Scanlon was on the verge of declaring Professor Watkins the nominee, when delegates in various parts of the hall broke in with a flood of motions, counter motions, amendments and suspensions of the rules. An extended debate followed which finally resulted in the restoration of the rules and a ballot for the vice presidency.

Three Names Presented.

Three men were named—Professor Watkins, T. B. Demaree of Kentucky, and Charles S. Holler of Indiana. Then

HAYWOOD IS OUSTED

HAS NO VOTE IN CONVENTION OF WESTERN FEDERATION.

Conservative Element Is Supplant Radicals in Organization—Will Get Closer to Mine Owners.

DENVER, July 16.—Conservatism is taking the place of radicalism in the Western Federation of Miners, through which closer and more amicable relations with the mine owners will be established.

William D. Haywood can not be president of the federation. He has no vote nor is he even a delegate in the convention, and it was positively stated among members today that his leadership would not be sanctioned by the faction in control.

Vincent St. John of Chicago, one of the most radical workers in the organization and who is alleged to have done more harm than good, was given his walking papers this morning, though a determined fight was made against throwing him out of the federation.

Charles H. Moyer, the present chief of the miners, will again be elected president, despite his declaration that he has been in office long enough. His election will be unanimous and certain, as the convention is determined, now that the last of their court cases have been settled, to get back on the old footing of former years.

The morning session today of the convention was given over to further officers, reports and the reading of resolutions from various locals calling for changes in constitution. The resolutions were referred to the committee.

PRINCE ON THE STAND

ZU EULENBERG DEFENDS HIS HONOR.

One Reporter Is Allowed to Attend Trial Which Previously Was Closed to Press and Public.

BERLIN, July 16.—Prince Philip Zu Eulenberg's condition is such that the court which is trying him was obliged to adjourn today after a brief session. The prince was brought into court on a stretcher, his every appearance indicating suffering.

Beginning with today, the presiding judge allowed one newspaper reporter to be present at the trial to supply such accounts of the testimony as are not inconsistent with the public morality.

The prince, in a weak and shaky voice, replied to various questions put to him by the court.

"How do you explain Ernst's testimony concerning your conduct with him?" inquired the judge.

"Ernst is for me a psychological puzzle" answered the prince.

"I know there are bad men," commented the judge, "but in this case you would have it appear that you are an angel and Ernst a devil."

"I certainly am no angel," replied Zu Eulenberg, "and I have many weaknesses. My best qualities have been expressed. I think by enthusiastic friendships and generous acts, but unfortunately even these qualities are misled by the world into meanness and filth. The advice of the day is to be egotistic to the very bones."

In reply to another question the prince said:

"I can only suppose that Ernst testified as he did against me as a result
